AFL Approves "No Raid" Pact With CIO

Union Dispute Settling Plan To Be Sought

Resolution Declaring Durkin's Resignation Justified Is Adopted

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25 (AP)—The AFL today approved a "no raiding" pact with the CIO and resolved to establish machinery for peaceful settlement of union fights within the AFL itself.

A busy final session of the AFL's annual convention also adopted a resolution saying the recent resignation of AFL union leader Martin Durkin, as secretary of labor, was justified "because of the failure of President Eisenhower to keep his agreement" with Durkin.

This referred to Durkin's claim he quit because Eisenhower broke an agreement to send a message to Congress suggesting 19 changes in the union-criticized Taft-Hartley law. The White House has said there was no such agreement.

Officers Re-elected

In other actions the AFL re-elected officers, including George Meany as president, and chartered a new union to replace the International Longshoremen's Association, ousted from the AFL for harboring racketeers.

The "no raiding" agreement with the CIO still requires approval by the CIO convention at Cleveland in November, but an okay is expected. The pact is regarded as an initial step toward possible AFL-CIO merger.

The AFL-CIO pact is to become effective Jan. 1 for all unions subscribing to it individually. It would pledge them against seeking to get already organized workers to switch allegiance from one union to another, a practice that has stirred up considerable labor strife.

Any argument about the agreement would be settled by an umpire, and violations could be punished by court action.

Difficult Task Seen

For the first time in its history, the AFL decided to have a try at establishing overall machinery for settling fights between its own rival unions, often resulting in costly strikes.

Apparently AFL leaders have something in mind like the AFL-CIO peace plan, but they conceded privately jealousies and rivalries between AFL unions will be difficult to overcome.

The convention, conceding union squabbles are hurting organized labor, directed the AFL's Executive Council to work out a dispute-settling plan in six months and call a special meeting of the AFL union presidents to consider it.

Yesterday it was discovered he'd spent the night with another boy whose mother believed Michael had permission to stay away from home.

At Least 12 Dead In Jap Typhoon; Flood Threatens

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 26 (AP)—A typhoon with winds of more than 90 miles an hour spread death and destruction over Japan's inland sea area yesterday, struck Tokyo a glancing blow today and raised the threat of a major flood to the north.

Men worked all last night sandbagging the banks of the Tone River north of Tokyo to guard against levee breaks such as those in the 1947 typhoon when 1,048 Japanese were drowned.

At Least Dozen Dead

Snarled communication lines afforded only a fragmentary picture of the storm toll.

The first, incomplete, reports told of 12 dead, scores injured, property damage in the millions and a dozen ships aground, adrift or damaged. One grounded vessel was a 20-ton Japanese minesweeper believed to be carrying salvaged explosives.

It was the second typhoon rampaging in the Orient. One hit the central coast of Indochina. It was believed several hundred were killed and it was known several hundred thousands were homeless. U. S. relief supplies were being flown in.

70 Mile Winds Lash Tokyo

Japan's typhoon lashed hardest at the inland sea area yesterday with winds at the center of more than 90 miles an hour. Then it split 10 miles northwest of Tokyo but still had the strength to lash this city of seven million with winds up to 70 miles an hour.

The typhoon piled more disaster on a country which has had its most tragic year from the elements since the end of World War II.

Devastating summer floods have taken 1,500 lives.

Ax-Wielding Boys Invade 10 Homes; Damage, $35,000

SOLON SPRINGS, Wis., Sept. 25 (AP)—Two busy little boys armed with axes and paint did nearly $35,000 worth of damage to 10 summer homes in a 3-day orgy of destruction, Douglas County Sheriff Anthony Jenda said today.

Jenda said the two—one 9, the other 13—readily admitted smashing the interiors and furnishing of seven homes, two cottages and one guest house, but said they "didn't know why."

The boys said they began their pillaging Monday. They were caught Wednesday morning, after Sheriff Jenda became suspicious of a torn curtain he spotted in one cottage.

Peron Considers General Amnesty

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 25 (AP) — President Juan Peron announced to reporters today he was going to give close study to an amnesty law to free political prisoners from Argentine jails and allow political exiles to return to the country.

There have been reports for some time that Peron was considering a general amnesty to make peace with his political enemies.

An amnesty would cap his current "pacification" campaign, started early in July. As a result of his campaign, the Socialist party has been taken over by a group supporting Peronista policies in most important details. The Democratic party, the nation's most conservative, also sent a peace-making mission to see Peron today.

Claims Air Speed Mark

TRIPOLI, Libya, Sept. 25 (AP) — Britain's Lt. Mike Lithgow claimed the world's air speed record today after clocking his Supermarine jet fighter at an average 737.3 miles an hour in four runs over a 1,864-mile course. The figure has not been officially confirmed.

U. S., Spain Sign Base Pact Today, Madrid Reports

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 25 (AP) — Spanish sources said tonight the United States and Spain will sign an historic agreement tomorrow to set up U. S. naval and air defense bases on Spanish soil.

These sources who would not be named, said Spain's Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo and U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn would sign three protocols containing the far-reaching agreements at 4 p.m. (10 a.m., EST).

The signing would spell completion of negotiations which have been going on since April, 1952.

The informants said the pact would link the two nations in a near alliance which would:

1. Permit U. S. air forces to use Spanish naval airbases.

2. Permit the United States to enlarge and improve these bases or build new ones.

3. In exchange grant Spain about 215 million dollars in American aid and permit Spain to modernize her armed forces, highway and rail networks and bolster the country's economy.

The agreement would be in effect only in peacetime. Spanish sources close to the government said, however, that there was an understanding between the two nations that in the event of war with Communist powers, the agreement would be extended to an outright military alliance.

The immediate result of the accord would be to give the U. S. Mediterranean fleet new bases from which to operate. These bases are El Ferrol del Caudillo in northwest Galicia; Cadiz at the Atlantic entrance to the inland sea of Cartagena; Valencia on the eastern coast and Mahon in the Balearic islands.

Ousted U. N. Employes Still Refuse To Talk

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Two ousted United Nations employes, both Americans, stood pat today on their refusal to say whether they ever had Communist connections.

The pair, Frank C. Bancroft, 48, and Mrs. Julia Older Bazer, 43, were fired by the U. N. for their refusal last year to answer questions of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

They refused again today to answer similar questions, although Mrs. Bazer maintained her loyalty in a statement handed out outside the subcommittee hearing room.

The two were among 11 ousted Americans recently granted reinstatement or cash indemnities by a U. N. appeals tribunal. Bancroft won a $12,000 indemnity ruling, and Mrs. Bazer was awarded $27,500.

Tax Dodger Sentenced

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP) — Robert Lee Evans, Baltimore shipyard worker who admitted claiming non-existent daughters to reduce his tax burden, was given a 30-day sentence and fined $1,000 today.

France Asks Indochinese Peace Talks

U.N. Told Red China, Russia Apparently Favor Negotiations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—France proposed today that the Communists and the French attempt to settle the 8-year-old war in Indochina by diplomatic negotiations, either in the Korean peace conference or immediately afterward.

Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, in his government's opening speech to the U. N. Assembly, said the object of such negotiations would be to end the aggression in Indochina and make possible a return of more normal conditions of international relations in Asia.

Red Hints Reported

He said hints had appeared that the two outside powers which "inspire and arm the Vietminh rebels" in Indochina were disposed to consider the opening of negotiations to end that conflict.

Obviously referring to Communist China and the Soviet Union, Schumann said the time had come for those two powers to prove the hints were not mere propaganda.

Schumann told the delegates France would do all in her power to have India join the Korean conference. He was following the opening provided by U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who has told the Assembly that the conference itself could decide after it meets whether to invite neutrals to attend.

U. S. Expected To Stand Firm

However, sources familiar with American policy predicted that the United States would continue to oppose Indian participation in the conference when that question comes up.

While the debate in the Assembly heard more and more delegates appeal for high-level East-West talks to end the cold war, delegates were also discussing a published report that the United States planned to give the Communists attending the Korean peace conference a choice between two basic courses of action: an independent Korea under international guarantee or the continued presence of American troops in South Korea.

Gunman Is Slain After Wounding Two FBI Agents

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP) — A man tentatively identified as John Elgin Johnson, 33-year-old parole violator from Alcatraz, was shot to death in a theater mezannine tonight after wounding two FBI agents who came to arrest him.

The FBI said the man opened fire on agents Brady Murphy and Ray Fox as they walked toward a telephone booth in which he was standing in the Town Theater.

Murphy was hit in the side and Fox in the hip but kept firing until Johnson fell. Eight to 10 shots were exchanged.

FBI officials said Johnson had a criminal record going back to 1935 and described it as "a yard long." He was sent to Alcatraz prison in 1941 on a 15-year sentence for bank robbery.

Agents received a tip tonight that Johnson was in Baltimore and at the Town Theater. Murphy and Fox were sent to try to locate him.

The audience was watching a crime picture, "I, the Jury," based on a best-seller by Mickey Spillane, when the shooting started.

The FBI here said Johnson was seized by agents in Sioux City, Iowa, on Oct. 29, 1940, after holding up a store and disarming two policemen. They said he admitted then that on Oct. 17 that year he had held up four Los Angeles city banks in less than two hours.

HAGERSTOWN, Sept. 25 (AP) — Union workers at New York Central Iron Works, a steel fabricating plant here, walked from their jobs today after their contract expired.

Dispute Holds Up POW Interviews

LIZ AILING — Film Actress Elizabeth Taylor (above) has suffered a "nervous collapse —nothing serious" and has some trouble with her back, her actor-husband, Michael Wilding, said in Copenhagen, Denmark, yesterday. The couple, married in London 19 months ago, has been touring Europe.

U. N. Insists Men Need Not Listen To Explanations

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Sept. 26 (AP) — A dispute over whether more than 22,000 prisoners balking at return to communism can be forced to listen to "explanations" by the Reds yesterday forced postponement of the operation until next week.

The explanations had been due to start today. Now they will begin next Thursday barring another postponement.

The Communists insisted that the more than 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans refusing repatriation must be compelled to hear the Red teams; that the men must be interviewed individually; and that the interviews may be repeated over a 90-day period.

U. N. Argument

The U. N. Command argued that a man who has made up his mind and does not want to be interviewed need not listen; that explanations must be conducted in groups of 25 so there is less opportunity of intimidation; and that prisoners should have the right to decide if they want to meet the interviewers more than once.

Caught in the midst of the squabble, the Netural Nations Repatriation Commission, which will supervise the interviews, put off at least until next Thursday the start of work by explanation teams.

All prisoners of both sides are now held in the demilitarized zone under guard of Indian troops. Allied teams will be confronted with a much smaller group — 23 Americans, a Briton and 335 South Koreans.

Rules Not Announced

The 5-nation commission, headed by the Indian delegate as chairman and umpire, has yet to announce the rules which will govern the explanations.

No official word from the Reds yet was forthcoming on Gen. Mark Clark's renewed demand that the Communists account for more than 3,400 missing Allied troops, including 958 Americans.

Communist newsman Wilfred Burchett Friday again admitted to Allied newsmen that the Reds still hold some American airmen as prisoners in Manchuria.

Russians Free 'Minor' German War Criminals

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—The East German radio announced tonight that the first German war prisoners to be freed from Soviet camps since the Kremlin and East Germany announced a deal last August have begun arriving at the border.

The Communist broadcast said the first group arrived at the Frankfurt-Oder border tonight, but did not give any figures. It said the men eventually would be sent on to their home towns.

The East German Interior Ministry announced earlier that the group consisted of prisoners convicted of minor war crimes.

Pact Didn't Upset Election

The Aug. 22 agreement, widely heralded by the Communists during the West German election campaign in their fight against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, provided for the return of "minor" war criminals, canceled 2½ billion dollars worth of reparations still claimed by Russia and granted the East Germans several economic concessions.

But the Western-minded Adenauer snowed under the opposition in the West German voting Sept. 6.

The Russians say they are holding only 13,532 Germans. West Germany's federal republic insists there must be at least 100,000 still behind Red army walls.

Believed Mostly S. S. Men

In Berlin the presumption was that the Russians are turning loose mostly S. S. men who were held as war criminals largely because of their membership in Hitler's elite guard corps. The Kremlin has never made public any German war crimes trials in the Soviet Union.

The S. S. was ruled a criminal organization at the Allied war criminals trial in Nuernberg. Membership in it meant automatic arrest in 1945.

Labor Dispute Over Cookie Is Settled

DUNCAN, B. C., Sept. 25 (AP) — British Columbia's most unusual labor dispute has been settled.

David Badle, a mill worker, who was fired for eating a cookie before lunch, was back on the job today after an arbitration board ruled his dismissal was not warranted "in view of other disciplinary measures available."

The cookie dispute resulted in a 1-day strike at the plant of the B. C. Forest Products at nearby Youbou. The 400 workers demanded Badle be restored to his job. The strike was settled when the men agreed to arbitrate the dispute.

Tydings' Barn Burns

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—Fire raced through a large barn on the farm of former Sen. Millard Tydings tonight, completely destroying the barn and 5,000 bales of hay stored there.

Tydings estimated the loss at $20,000.

135-Mile Wind Due To Strike This Morning

Alabama, Florida Guard Alerted For Possible Disaster

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 25 (AP)—Residents along a 300-mile stretch of the Florida and Alabama Gulf coastline busily braced themselves tonight for the fury of an approaching hurricane, packing winds of 135-miles-an-hour in its center.

Winds rose and deluging rains fell as the roaring hurricane, some 200 miles south of Pensacola, drove landward.

Weather Bureau observers said the storm shifted to a north-northeast direction late today, throwing its path more toward the northwest corner of Florida.

With shipping tied up from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the southern tip of Florida, Alabama and Florida National Guardsmen and highway patrolmen were ordered to prepare for a possible disaster.

Beach Homes Evacuated

Beach residents from Mobile to Panama City, Fla., boarded up and evacuated their homes.

Numerous military and naval installations in the area secured planes and material. Business houses boarded their windows as tides began to rise, flooding Florida coastal sections.

Hurricane force winds were expected to begin buffeting the coast around midnight tonight, with the heaviest blow to come in the early morning hours.

Steady, drizzling rain fell from Mobile to Panama City, with an ominous calm belying the approaching storm.

A Panama City disaster committee—firemen, policemen and public utilities workers—stood by on an emergency basis.

Air Base In Path

Tyndall Air Force Base, directly in the path of the center of the hurricane, prepared for 100-mile-an-hour winds by 9 a.m. tomorrow. The Pensacola Naval Air Station, with its four flying fields, and Brookley Air Force Base at Mobile tightened precautions.

Shrimp boats caught at sea scurried towards shore. The Coast Guard at St. Petersburg, Fla., sent the cutter Nemesis to aid a Tampa shrimper, the Fiar Tide, running low on fuel in the wind-lashed Gulf of Mexico. The Nemesis expected to reach the vessel some time during the night. It was about 160 miles off Egmont Key at the mouth of Tampa Bay.

Red Atrocities Against Captives Will Be Probed

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) announced today an investigation will be made of reported Communist atrocities against United Nations prisoners of war.

McCarthy, chairman of the Permanent Senate Investigating Committee, said the probe would be carried on by Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

The Wisconsin senator said Potter has accepted the assignment as acting chairman of a subcommittee.

The subcommittee also would look into U. N. prisoners of war "still behind the Bamboo Curtain."

McCarthy Honored

McCarthy's announcement came as he was receiving from the Wall Street Post of the American Legion its 11th Bill of Rights Gold Medal. He spoke to about 2,000 gathered outside the Sub-Treasury Building at Broad and Wall streets.

McCarthy said he hoped Potter's investigation "may do something to prevent experts who make one trip around the world from coming back and telling us we can beat communism at a conference table."

McCarthy did not mention any names, but apparently referred to Adlai Stevenson, defeated Democratic presidential candidate who recently completed a world circling tour.

Reds Will "Never Surrender"

McCarthy declared Communists would "never surrender at a conference table.

"We are at war today, a war we did not start and cannot finish except by victory or death to this nation," he said.

The medal McCarthy received is awarded annually by the Wall Street American Legion Post to a citizen or group "whose outstanding Americanism provided exceptional protection and defense of our way of life."

TAWNEYTOWN, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—Preston John Smith, 66-year-old retired farmer turned carpenter, was killed today when he fell from scaffolding while working on the Lutheran Church new Sunday School building.

Administration Makes First Cut In Security Interest Rate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's first cut in interest rates, after a gradual 7-month increase in the yields of federal securities, was announced by the Treasury tonight.

Secretary Humphrey halted the sale of the present series of Treasury savings notes, and announced that a new issue bearing less interest will be offered on Oct. 1.

Humphrey explained merely that the rate will be revised downward to "reflect recent changes in the government securities market."

Another administration source denied that the action foreshadows an administration shift to an "easier money" policy. The policy was and is, this informant said, to pay only the interest rate that is necessary to meet the competition for investors' money.

While government bonds prices have been rising, this official explained, investors' demand has swung increasingly to the 2-year savings notes introduced on May 11. This indicated to the Treasury that the attractive interest rate on the notes was higher than the general market pattern.

The sale of "Series B" savings notes, first offered in May, was cut off at 6 p.m. EST.

Purchase orders placed or mailed before that hour will be honored, the Treasury said.

Savings notes are securities bought mainly by corporations and other large taxpayers as a method of investing money earmarked for the payment of taxes or reserved for a limited time for other purposes.

Biggest Atom Air Raid Drill Makes New York Ghost City

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The biggest atomic air raid drill the world has ever seen made a ghost city of New York today, as its millions took shelter from the make-believe fury of two bombs.

State Civil Defense Director Clarence R. Heubner called it the best so far of New York's three city-wide A-bomb drills. Others were held Nov. 28, 1951, and April 3, 1952.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the public was very co-operative," added City Director Herbert R. O'Brien.

The simulated raid began at 9:30 a.m. and lasted 15 minutes. Theoretically the bombs landed in downtown Manhattan and Queens, killing one million people, injuring 500,000 and making two million homeless. Civil defense workers carried out assignments as if a real raid had occurred.

One life was lost. Motorcycle Policeman Harry Witter, 40, was killed in a traffic collision five minutes after the raid drill. He was due off duty at 8 a.m. but stayed on overtime to aid in the drill.

A woman was injured in a fall down a shelter stairway.

For the first time, the new "conelrad" technique of scrambling radio beams was used in an all-out drill. Standard radio stations in the New York area from Freeport on Long Island to Morristown and New Brunswick in New Jersey switched to "conelrad," a system of confusing incoming enemy bombers. Television and FM radio stations went off the air.

Only moments were required to sweep Times Square clear of its teeming thousands as the wail of nearly 600 sirens signaled the alert's beginning.

Weather Forecast

Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, in his government's opening speech to the U. N. Assembly, said the object of such negotiations would be to end the aggression in Indochina and make possible a return of more normal conditions of international relations in Asia.

Red Hints Reported

He said hints had appeared that the two outside powers which "inspire and arm the Vietminh rebels" in Indochina were disposed to consider the opening of negotiations to end that conflict.

Obviously referring to Communist China and the Soviet Union, Schumann said the time had come for those two powers to prove the hints were not mere propaganda.

Schumann told the delegates France would do all in her power to have India join the Korean conference. He was following the opening provided by U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who has told the Assembly that the conference itself could decide after it meets whether to invite neutrals to attend.

U. S. Expected To Stand Firm

However, sources familiar with American policy predicted that the United States would continue to oppose Indian participation in the conference when that question comes up.

While the debate in the Assembly heard more and more delegates appeal for high-level East-West talks to end the cold war, delegates were also discussing a published report that the United States planned to give the Communists attending the Korean peace conference a choice between two basic courses of action: an independent Korea under international guarantee or the continued presence of American troops in South Korea.

Gunman Is Slain After Wounding Two FBI Agents

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP) — A man tentatively identified as John Elgin Johnson, 33-year-old parole violator from Alcatraz, was shot to death in a theater mezannine tonight after wounding two FBI agents who came to arrest him.

The FBI said the man opened fire on agents Brady Murphy and Ray Fox as they walked toward a telephone booth in which he was standing in the Town Theater.

Murphy was hit in the side and Fox in the hip but kept firing until Johnson fell. Eight to 10 shots were exchanged.

FBI officials said Johnson had a criminal record going back to 1935 and described it as "a yard long." He was sent to Alcatraz prison in 1941 on a 15-year sentence for bank robbery.

Agents received a tip tonight that Johnson was in Baltimore and at the Town Theater. Murphy and Fox were sent to try to locate him.

The audience was watching a crime picture, "I, the Jury," based on a best-seller by Mickey Spillane, when the shooting started.

The FBI here said Johnson was seized by agents in Sioux City, Iowa, on Oct. 29, 1940, after holding up a store and disarming two policemen. They said he admitted then that on Oct. 17 that year he had held up four Los Angeles city banks in less than two hours.

Dispute Holds Up POW Interviews

LIZ AILING — Film Actress Elizabeth Taylor (above) has suffered a "nervous collapse—nothing serious" and has some trouble with her back, her actor-husband, Michael Wilding, said in Copenhagen, Denmark, yesterday. The couple, married in London 19 months ago, has been touring Europe.

U. N. Insists Men Need Not Listen To Explanations

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Sept. 26 (AP) — A dispute over whether more than 22,000 prisoners balking at return to communism can be forced to listen to "explanations" by the Reds yesterday forced postponement of the operation until next week.

The explanations had been due to start today. Now they will begin next Thursday barring another postponement.

The Communists insisted that the more than 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans refusing repatriation must be compelled to hear the Red teams; that the men must be interviewed individually; and that the interviews may be repeated over a 90-day period.

U. N. Argument

The U. N. Command argued that a man who has made up his mind and does not want to be interviewed need not listen; that explanations must be conducted in groups of 25 so there is less opportunity of intimidation; and that prisoners should have the right to decide if they want to meet the interviewers more than once.

Caught in the midst of the squabble, the Netural Nations Repatriation Commission, which will supervise the interviews, put off at least until next Thursday the start of work by explanation teams.

All prisoners of both sides are now held in the demilitarized zone under guard of Indian troops. Allied teams will be confronted with a much smaller group — 23 Americans, a Briton and 335 South Koreans.

Rules Not Announced

The 5-nation commission, headed by the Indian delegate as chairman and umpire, has yet to announce the rules which will govern the explanations.

No official word from the Reds yet was forthcoming on Gen. Mark Clark's renewed demand that the Communists account for more than 3,400 missing Allied troops, including 958 Americans.

Communist newsman Wilfred Burchett Friday again admitted to Allied newsmen that the Reds still hold some American airmen as prisoners in Manchuria.

Russians Free 'Minor' German War Criminals

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—The East German radio announced tonight that the first German war prisoners to be freed from Soviet camps since the Kremlin and East Germany announced a deal last August have begun arriving at the border.

The Communist broadcast said the first group arrived at the Frankfurt-Oder border tonight, but did not give any figures. It said the men eventually would be sent on to their home towns.

The East German Interior Ministry announced earlier that the group consisted of prisoners convicted of minor war crimes.

Pact Didn't Upset Election

The Aug. 22 agreement, widely heralded by the Communists during the West German election campaign in their fight against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, provided for the return of "minor" war criminals, canceled 2½ billion dollars worth of reparations still claimed by Russia and granted the East Germans several economic concessions.

But the Western-minded Adenauer snowed under the opposition in the West German voting Sept. 6.

The Russians say they are holding only 13,532 Germans. West Germany's federal republic insists there must be at least 100,000 still behind Red army walls.

Believed Mostly S. S. Men

In Berlin the presumption was that the Russians are turning loose mostly S. S. men who were held as war criminals largely because of their membership in Hitler's elite guard corps. The Kremlin has never made public any German war crimes trials in the Soviet Union.

The S. S. was ruled a criminal organization at the Allied war criminals trial in Nuernberg. Membership in it meant automatic arrest in 1945.

Labor Dispute Over Cookie Is Settled

DUNCAN, B. C., Sept. 25 (AP) — British Columbia's most unusual labor dispute has been settled.

David Badle, a mill worker, who was fired for eating a cookie before lunch, was back on the job today after an arbitration board ruled his dismissal was not warranted "in view of other disciplinary measures available."

The cookie dispute resulted in a 1-day strike at the plant of the B. C. Forest Products at nearby Youbou. The 400 workers demanded Badle be restored to his job. The strike was settled when the men agreed to arbitrate the dispute.

Tydings' Barn Burns

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—Fire raced through a large barn on the farm of former Sen. Millard Tydings tonight, completely destroying the barn and 5,000 bales of hay stored there.

Tydings estimated the loss at $20,000.

135-Mile Wind Due To Strike This Morning

Alabama, Florida Guard Alerted For Possible Disaster

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 25 (AP)—Residents along a 300-mile stretch of the Florida and Alabama Gulf coastline busily braced themselves tonight for the fury of an approaching hurricane, packing winds of 135-miles-an-hour in its center.

Winds rose and deluging rains fell as the roaring hurricane, some 200 miles south of Pensacola, drove landward.

Weather Bureau observers said the storm shifted to a north-northeast direction late today, throwing its path more toward the northwest corner of Florida.

With shipping tied up from the mouth of the Mississippi River to the southern tip of Florida, Alabama and Florida National Guardsmen and highway patrolmen were ordered to prepare for a possible disaster.

Beach Homes Evacuated

Beach residents from Mobile to Panama City, Fla., boarded up and evacuated their homes.

Numerous military and naval installations in the area secured planes and material. Business houses boarded their windows as tides began to rise, flooding Florida coastal sections.

Hurricane force winds were expected to begin buffeting the coast around midnight tonight, with the heaviest blow to come in the early morning hours.

Steady, drizzling rain fell from Mobile to Panama City, with an ominous calm belying the approaching storm.

A Panama City disaster committee—firemen, policemen and public utilities workers—stood by on an emergency basis.

Air Base In Path

Tyndall Air Force Base, directly in the path of the center of the hurricane, prepared for 100-mile-an-hour winds by 9 a.m. tomorrow. The Pensacola Naval Air Station, with its four flying fields, and Brookley Air Force Base at Mobile tightened precautions.

Shrimp boats caught at sea scurried towards shore. The Coast Guard at St. Petersburg, Fla., sent the cutter Nemesis to aid a Tampa shrimper, the Fiar Tide, running low on fuel in the wind-lashed Gulf of Mexico. The Nemesis expected to reach the vessel some time during the night. It was about 160 miles off Egmont Key at the mouth of Tampa Bay.

Red Atrocities Against Captives Will Be Probed

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) announced today an investigation will be made of reported Communist atrocities against United Nations prisoners of war.

McCarthy, chairman of the Permanent Senate Investigating Committee, said the probe would be carried on by Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

The Wisconsin senator said Potter has accepted the assignment as acting chairman of a subcommittee.

The subcommittee also would look into U. N. prisoners of war "still behind the Bamboo Curtain."

McCarthy Honored

McCarthy's announcement came as he was receiving from the Wall Street Post of the American Legion its 11th Bill of Rights Gold Medal. He spoke to about 2,000 gathered outside the Sub-Treasury Building at Broad and Wall streets.

McCarthy said he hoped Potter's investigation "may do something to prevent experts who make one trip around the world from coming back and telling us we can beat communism at a conference table."

McCarthy did not mention any names, but apparently referred to Adlai Stevenson, defeated Democratic presidential candidate who recently completed a world circling tour.

Reds Will "Never Surrender"

McCarthy declared Communists would "never surrender at a conference table.

"We are at war today, a war we did not start and cannot finish except by victory or death to this nation," he said.

The medal McCarthy received is awarded annually by the Wall Street American Legion Post to a citizen or group "whose outstanding Americanism provided exceptional protection and defense of our way of life."

Fall Kills Carpenter

TAWNEYTOWN, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—Preston John Smith, 66-year-old retired farmer turned carpenter, was killed today when he fell from scaffolding while working on the Lutheran Church new Sunday School building.

Forrestal Estate

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—James V. Forrestal, the late secretary of defense, left gross assets of $1,338,754 upon his death in 1949, an estate tax appraisal showed today.

Claims Air Speed Mark

TRIPOLI, Libya, Sept. 25 (AP) — Britain's Lt. Mike Lithgow claimed the world's air speed record today after clocking his Supermarine jet fighter at an average 737.3 miles an hour in four runs over a 1,864-mile course. The figure has not been officially confirmed.

Administration Makes First Cut In Security Interest Rate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's first cut in interest rates, after a gradual 7-month increase in the yields of federal securities, was announced by the Treasury tonight.

Secretary Humphrey halted the sale of the present series of Treasury savings notes, and announced that a new issue bearing less interest will be offered on Oct. 1.

Humphrey explained merely that the rate will be revised downward to "reflect recent changes in the government securities market."

Another administration source denied that the action foreshadows an administration shift to an "easier money" policy. The policy was and is, this informant said, to pay only the interest rate that is necessary to meet the competition for investors' money.

While government bonds prices have been rising, this official explained, investors' demand has swung increasingly to the 2-year savings notes introduced on May 11. This indicated to the Treasury that the attractive interest rate on the notes was higher than the general market pattern.

The sale of "Series B" savings notes, first offered in May, was cut off at 6 p.m. EST.

Purchase orders placed or mailed before that hour will be honored, the Treasury said.

Savings notes are securities bought mainly by corporations and other large taxpayers as a method of investing money earmarked for the payment of taxes or reserved for a limited time for other purposes.

Biggest Atom Air Raid Drill Makes New York Ghost City

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The biggest atomic air raid drill the world has ever seen made a ghost city of New York today, as its millions took shelter from the make-believe fury of two bombs.

State Civil Defense Director Clarence R. Heubner called it the best so far of New York's three city-wide A-bomb drills. Others were held Nov. 28, 1951, and April 3, 1952.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the public was very co-operative," added City Director Herbert R. O'Brien.

The simulated raid began at 9:30 a.m. and lasted 15 minutes. Theoretically the bombs landed in downtown Manhattan and Queens, killing one million people, injuring 500,000 and making two million homeless. Civil defense workers carried out assignments as if a real raid had occurred.

One life was lost. Motorcycle Policeman Harry Witter, 40, was killed in a traffic collision five minutes after the raid drill. He was due off duty at 8 a.m. but stayed on overtime to aid in the drill.

A woman was injured in a fall down a shelter stairway.

For the first time, the new "conelrad" technique of scrambling radio beams was used in an all-out drill. Standard radio stations in the New York area from Freeport on Long Island to Morristown and New Brunswick in New Jersey switched to "conelrad," a system of confusing incoming enemy bombers. Television and FM radio stations went off the air.

Only moments were required to sweep Times Square clear of its teeming thousands as the wail of nearly 600 sirens signaled the alert's beginning.

West Considers Ideas For Pacts With Russia

'Neutralized' Zone On Polish-German Border Proposed

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Big Three Western Powers were reported today to be mulling over ideas for a series of far reaching security pacts for proposal to the Soviet Union.

Informed diplomats said one plan under study—but not widely supported—would create a demilitarized zone along both sides of the Polish-German border.

Another suggestion was said to be for separate security treaties between the United States and Russia; Britain and Russia; the six-nation European Defense Community (EDC) and Russia. Presumably each signatory nation would be bound to support the other side in the event of an unprovoked attack.

The Foreign Office would not comment officially on these reports. The informants, however, said the United States, Great Britain and France were interchanging thoughts on the proposals but so far as is known no hard agreements have been reached. There is no indication of how Russia would react to proposals of this kind.

Such a many-sided security system between great rival power blocs would be unique in modern diplomatic history. The United States, for instance, never has entered any peacetime treaty with Communist Russia.

If the Western Allies agree on the proposals, they may have the opportunity of putting them to Russia next month. The Soviets have been asked to join a conference of foreign ministers on the German and Austrian questions at Lugano, Switzerland, Oct. 15. Russia so far has neither accepted nor rejected the Western invitation.

The plan for an East-West security system appears to have started in this country but since it first came up some leaders of other countries have reportedly identified themselves with it.

Former Postmistress Jailed As Embezzler

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—A 41-year-old mother of five children was sentenced to one year in federal prison today for embezzling $1,924.74 during the eight years she was postmistress at Cobb Island, Charles County.

Mrs. Louise Virginia Harrison pleaded guilty and told Judge W. Calvin Chesnut she took the money to help support her children. Her annual pay in the job was $1,762.

She said her husband had abandoned her and left her with the responsibility of raising the children.

Prosecutor Herbert H. Hubbard said Mrs. Harrison was able to take the money when she filled out money order applications for friends and relatives or postoffice customers who were unable to write.

POWs May Become Citizens Of Canada

OTTAWA, Sept., 25 (AP) — Two German seamen who came to Canada as war prisoners in World War II, escaped and spent more than eight years as fugitives, now have a chance to become Canadian citizens.

One is Franz J. Jenisch, arrested in Hamilton, Ont., about six weeks ago. The other is Heinz Fromme of Marathon, Ont., who surrendered here more recently so his status could be cleared up.

The immigration department announced today the two have been granted permission to remain "provided they meet the health requirements." That means a routine check similar to that given all immigrants. Once cleared, they can become citizens in five years.

Postman Leaves Woman Confused

FORT LEE, Va., Sept. 25 (AP)—The postman rang twice and left Mrs. Lillian S. Beloin a trifle confused.

Yesterday morning she received a letter saying she'd been given a pay raise. She is a civilian employe at the Army base here.

Then, yesterday afternoon, the postman brought her another letter saying she was being fired under a civilian reduction program.

As a clincher, Mrs. Beloin learned this morning she'd been named the month's outstanding civilian employe at Fort Lee.

French Draw Net Tighter On Reds

KASAT, Indochina, Sept. 25 (AP)—French Union troops continued today to draw their encircling net tighter around more than 5,000 Vietminh troops in the Red River Delta, 30 miles southeast of Hanoi.

French commanders reported that 28 more of the Vietminh had been killed and 37 captured in bitter fighting in the rain-flooded ricefields. Additionally the French said they seized 130 men suspected of being Vietminh soldiers.

Since the mopup operation started on Wednesday, the French Union forces have killed 100 Vietminh and captured 40, most of them members of the Communist-led Vietminh's crack regiments.

French artillery, warplanes, armored units and naval craft maintained a steady hammering of Vietminh troops entrenched in a string of villages in the Hung Yen sector.

There was bitter hand-to-hand fighting as Foreign Legionnaires and other French troops clashed with Vietminh forces in fortified villages and in the ricefields.

Job Reduction Cut In Half By 2nd Army

FT. MEADE, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—The Second Army announced today that half of some 5,000 civilian jobs ordered cut by Oct. 16 have been restored.

A Second Army spokesman said "additional fund resources" made available by the Department of the Army made it unnecessary to reduce the staff of civilian employes by more than about 2,500.

The reduction was originally mapped out about three weeks ago in an economy drive.

The Second Army area embraces Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Ohio, Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Reorganization Of Tax Service Meets Approval

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP) — A congressional committee took a look today at the Eisenhower administration's tax service reorganization, and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) said the picture was "very satisfactory."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews were questioned about the changes at a closed session of the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue.

Reports had circulated that some committee members wanted to check to see whether broad changes in tax collecting operations had lowered employe morale and caused a loss in revenue.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), chairman of the joint group and of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said the congressmen reviewed the reorganization program. He declined further comment except to say the administration plans remain intact.

Millikin, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said revenue officials explained the purpose of the changes and gave details on how they are working.

Millikin said he could not speak for the committee but personally, "I thought the explanations were very satisfactory."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), another member, said he was 'very much pleased at the progress being made," but the full effects of the reorganization would not be felt until later.

18,000-Mile Voyage In Small Boat "Easy"

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 25 (AP)—A 30-year-old London dentist, who arrived here after sailing the Atlantic and parts of the Pacific in a 24-foot cutter, said the 18,000-mile voyage was "easy."

And there was a pleasant side, too. My, Oh my: those beauties of Tahiti.

Dr. William Howell said he had intended to stop at Tahiti only for a restful two weeks, but he stayed six months.

Mitchell Says Demo "Cleavage" Healing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP) — Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee said tonight the Democratic party is on the way toward healing the "old North-South cleavage that has plagued us for so long."

Addressing the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington, D. C., Mitchell said in a prepared speech that the recent 2-day party rally in Chicago "carried us a long way forward in our efforts to build unity and harmony in the Democratic party."

Librarian's Killer Given Life Term

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—"An immature boy of a little less than full mentality" was sentenced to a lifetime in prison today for the brutal 50-cent murder-robbery of a Baltimore librarian.

Robert Lee Terry, 18-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y. Negro, stood mute and motionless in court today when Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith pronounced sentence.

Terry was convicted last March of the slaying of Miss Leonore M. Naylor, 61 - year - old head of a branch library here.

Miss Naylor was hacked to death with a butcher knife last January as she stepped out of her car to enter a theater.

The youth said he netted "a little more than 50 cents" for the crime.

Scheduled Tax Cuts Endorsed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The senior Democrat on the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee said today some eight billion dollars in tax cuts, already set for next year, should be put into effect as scheduled.

Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn) said Congress should not postpone any of the reductions — barring an emergency — and should not impose any additional taxes.

Cooper's views, set out in a statement, are at variance with the Eisenhower administration's.

The administration favors two scheduled tax reductions which are due to take place Jan. 1 — a 10 per cent drop in personal income tax rates and expiration of the excess profit tax on business.

But the administration opposes two other tax reductions set under present laws for April 1. These are a drop of five percentage points in corporation income taxes and reductions in excise or sales taxes on several items.

Valley School Forms New Library Club

LONACONING—A Library Club has been formed at Valley High School with Mrs. Nora C. Troxell, librarian, as faculty sponsor.

Joyce Tharpe is president; Martha Ann Staup, vice president; Ruth Freeman, secretary; and Bobby Dickinson, treasurer.

Security Council Would Bulwark Home Defenses

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The National Security Council was reported tonight to have decided the rapidly expanding atomic and air power of Russia makes imperative a further bulwarking of North American continental defenses.

But the council believes the defense program can be expanded without an excessively heavy money investment in the first phases, well informed sources said. They also reported that it was not deemed necessary to put the work on a "crash" construction basis.

The Security Council, headed by President Eisenhower himself, is the government's top strategy-policy group.

The decision to step into the new continental defense program with a comparatively modest initial outlay presumably was governed not only by the desire to avoid a sudden sharp expansion of the military budget in the face of the administration's economy program but by a second factor.

Figuring heavily in discussions of what to do about Russia has been a school of thought which contends that, at best, passive defense of the continent can never stop every H-bomb carrying plane that the U.S.S.R. might launch from getting through to target cities.

This group argues for the retaliatory offensive air fleet, to atom bomb Russia, if she attacks. The existence of such a force must be a deterrent to Russian decision to attempt atomic war, it is argued.

West Considers Ideas For Pacts With Russia

'Neutralized' Zone On Polish-German Border Proposed

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Big Three Western Powers were reported today to be mulling over ideas for a series of far reaching security pacts for proposal to the Soviet Union.

Informed diplomats said one plan under study—but not widely supported—would create a demilitarized zone along both sides of the Polish-German border.

Another suggestion was said to be for separate security treaties between the United States and Russia; Britain and Russia; the six-nation European Defense Community (EDC) and Russia. Presumably each signatory nation would be bound to support the other side in the event of an unprovoked attack.

The Foreign Office would not comment officially on these reports. The informants, however, said the United States, Great Britain and France were interchanging thoughts on the proposals but so far as is known no hard agreements have been reached. There is no indication of how Russia would react to proposals of this kind.

Such a many-sided security system between great rival power blocs would be unique in modern diplomatic history. The United States, for instance, never has entered any peacetime treaty with Communist Russia.

If the Western Allies agree on the proposals, they may have the opportunity of putting them to Russia next month. The Soviets have been asked to join a conference of foreign ministers on the German and Austrian questions at Lugano, Switzerland, Oct. 15. Russia so far has neither accepted nor rejected the Western invitation.

The plan for an East-West security system appears to have started in this country but since it first came up some leaders of other countries have reportedly identified themselves with it.

Former Postmistress Jailed As Embezzler

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—A 41-year-old mother of five children was sentenced to one year in federal prison today for embezzling $1,924.74 during the eight years she was postmistress at Cobb Island, Charles County.

Mrs. Louise Virginia Harrison pleaded guilty and told Judge W. Calvin Chesnut she took the money to help support her children. Her annual pay in the job was $1,762.

She said her husband had abandoned her and left her with the responsibility of raising the children.

Prosecutor Herbert H. Hubbard said Mrs. Harrison was able to take the money when she filled out money order applications for friends and relatives or postoffice customers who were unable to write.

POWs May Become Citizens Of Canada

OTTAWA, Sept., 25 (AP) — Two German seamen who came to Canada as war prisoners in World War II, escaped and spent more than eight years as fugitives, now have a chance to become Canadian citizens.

One is Franz J. Jenisch, arrested in Hamilton, Ont., about six weeks ago. The other is Heinz Fromme of Marathon, Ont., who surrendered here more recently so his status could be cleared up.

The immigration department announced today the two have been granted permission to remain "provided they meet the health requirements." That means a routine check similar to that given all immigrants. Once cleared, they can become citizens in five years.

Postman Leaves Woman Confused

FORT LEE, Va., Sept. 25 (AP)—The postman rang twice and left Mrs. Lillian S. Beloin a trifle confused.

Yesterday morning she received a letter saying she'd been given a pay raise. She is a civilian employe at the Army base here.

Then, yesterday afternoon, the postman brought her another letter saying she was being fired under a civilian reduction program.

As a clincher, Mrs. Beloin learned this morning she'd been named the month's outstanding civilian employe at Fort Lee.

French Draw Net Tighter On Reds

KASAT, Indochina, Sept. 25 (AP)—French Union troops continued today to draw their encircling net tighter around more than 5,000 Vietminh troops in the Red River Delta, 30 miles southeast of Hanoi.

French commanders reported that 28 more of the Vietminh had been killed and 37 captured in bitter fighting in the rain-flooded ricefields. Additionally the French said they seized 130 men suspected of being Vietminh soldiers.

Since the mopup operation started on Wednesday, the French Union forces have killed 100 Vietminh and captured 40, most of them members of the Communist-led Vietminh's crack regiments.

French artillery, warplanes, armored units and naval craft maintained a steady hammering of Vietminh troops entrenched in a string of villages in the Hung Yen sector.

There was bitter hand-to-hand fighting as Foreign Legionnaires and other French troops clashed with Vietminh forces in fortified villages and in the ricefields.

Job Reduction Cut In Half By 2nd Army

FT. MEADE, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—The Second Army announced today that half of some 5,000 civilian jobs ordered cut by Oct. 16 have been restored.

A Second Army spokesman said "additional fund resources" made available by the Department of the Army made it unnecessary to reduce the staff of civilian employes by more than about 2,500.

The reduction was originally mapped out about three weeks ago in an economy drive.

The Second Army area embraces Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Ohio, Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Reorganization Of Tax Service Meets Approval

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP) — A congressional committee took a look today at the Eisenhower administration's tax service reorganization, and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) said the picture was "very satisfactory."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews were questioned about the changes at a closed session of the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue.

Reports had circulated that some committee members wanted to check to see whether broad changes in tax collecting operations had lowered employe morale and caused a loss in revenue.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), chairman of the joint group and of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said the congressmen reviewed the reorganization program. He declined further comment except to say the administration plans remain intact.

Millikin, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said revenue officials explained the purpose of the changes and gave details on how they are working.

Millikin said he could not speak for the committee but personally, "I thought the explanations were very satisfactory."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), another member, said he was 'very much pleased at the progress being made," but the full effects of the reorganization would not be felt until later.

18,000-Mile Voyage In Small Boat "Easy"

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 25 (AP)—A 30-year-old London dentist, who arrived here after sailing the Atlantic and parts of the Pacific in a 24-foot cutter, said the 18,000-mile voyage was "easy."

And there was a pleasant side, too. My, Oh my; those beauties of Tahiti.

Dr. William Howell said he had intended to stop at Tahiti only for a restful two weeks, but he stayed six months.

Mitchell Says Demo "Cleavage" Healing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP) — Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee said tonight the Democratic party is on the way toward healing the "old North-South cleavage that has plagued us for so long."

Addressing the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington, D. C., Mitchell said in a prepared speech that the recent 2-day party rally in Chicago "carried us a long way forward in our efforts to build unity and harmony in the Democratic party."

Librarian's Killer Given Life Term

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—"An immature boy of a little less than full mentality" was sentenced to a lifetime in prison today for the brutal 50-cent murder-robbery of a Baltimore librarian.

Robert Lee Terry, 18-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y. Negro, stood mute and motionless in court today when Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith pronounced sentence.

Terry was convicted last March of the slaying of Miss Leonore M. Naylor, 61 - year - old head of a branch library here.

Miss Naylor was hacked to death with a butcher knife last January as she stepped out of her car to enter a theater.

The youth said he netted "a little more than 50 cents" for the crime.

Scheduled Tax Cuts Endorsed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The senior Democrat on the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee said today some eight billion dollars in tax cuts, already set for next year, should be put into effect as scheduled.

Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn) said Congress should not postpone any of the reductions — barring an emergency — and should not impose any additional taxes.

Cooper's views, set out in a statement, are at variance with the Eisenhower administration's.

The administration favors two scheduled tax reductions which are due to take place Jan. 1 — a 10 per cent drop in personal income tax rates and expiration of the excess profit tax on business.

But the administration opposes two other tax reductions set under present laws for April 1. These are a drop of five percentage points in corporation income taxes and reductions in excise or sales taxes on several items.

Valley School Forms New Library Club

LONACONING—A Library Club has been formed at Valley High School with Mrs. Nora C. Troxell, librarian, as faculty sponsor.

Joyce Tharpe is president; Martha Ann Staup, vice president; Ruth Freeman, secretary; and Bobby Dickinson, treasurer.

Security Council Would Bulwark Home Defenses

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The National Security Council was reported tonight to have decided the rapidly expanding atomic and air power of Russia makes imperative a further bulwarking of North American continental defenses.

But the council believes the defense program can be expanded without an excessively heavy money investment in the first phases, well informed sources said. They also reported that it was not deemed necessary to put the work on a "crash" construction basis.

The Security Council, headed by President Eisenhower himself, is the government's top strategy-policy group.

The decision to step into the new continental defense program with a comparatively modest initial outlay presumably was governed not only by the desire to avoid a sudden sharp expansion of the military budget in the face of the administration's economy program but by a second factor.

Figuring heavily in discussions of what to do about Russia has been a school of thought which contends that, at best, passive defense of the continent can never stop every H-bomb carrying plane that the U.S.S.R. might launch from getting through to target cities.

This group argues for the retaliatory offensive air fleet, to atom bomb Russia, if she attacks. The existence of such a force must be a deterrent to Russian decision to attempt atomic war, it is argued.

Domestic Parcel Post Rates Will Increase Oct. 1

Thomas F. Conlon, local postmaster, yesterday reminded local residents that domestic parcel post rates will be increased on October 1.

He pointed out that the hikes, set up according to zones, take effect the first of next month here as well as throughout the United States.

Rate of increases are too complicated to be cited, but Conlon listed several examples of the type of hike expected.

The postage for a 20-pound parcel sent to Baltimore, Washington or Pittsburgh (Zone 2) at present is 63 cents, but after the increase on October 1, the same parcel will cost 99 cents. A five-pound parcel mailed to cities in Zone 2 now costs 27 cents, but will be hiked to 39 cents after October 1.

A 20-pound parcel sent to California, Zone 8, at present costs $2.93, but after the increase will cost $3.75.

Domestic Parcel Post Rates Will Increase Oct. 1

Thomas F. Conlon, local postmaster, yesterday reminded local residents that domestic parcel post rates will be increased on October 1.

He pointed out that the hikes, set up according to zones, take effect the first of next month here as well as throughout the United States.

Rate of increases are too complicated to be cited, but Conlon listed several examples of the type of hike expected.

The postage for a 20-pound parcel sent to Baltimore, Washington or Pittsburgh (Zone 2) at present is 63 cents, but after the increase on October 1, the same parcel will cost 99 cents. A five-pound parcel mailed to cities in Zone 2 now costs 27 cents, but will be hiked to 39 cents after October 1.

A 20-pound parcel sent to California, Zone 8, at present costs $2.93, but after the increase will cost $3.75.

Whittling Down Postal Deficit

A plan for raising the first-class mail rate to five cents for the first ounce and using air transportation for most first-class mail moved more than 400 miles is being studied by a citizens' advisory committee to the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee. The goal would be overnight delivery throughout the country eventually. President W. C. Doherty of the Letter Carriers Union (AFL) urges that the plan be given "serious study."

The plan is opposed by the railroads, which would stand to lose an estimated 7¼ per cent of their present mail revenues. Any such loss would curtail the carriers' total revenues by 1/5 of 1 per cent. The railroads have been asking for an increase of 45 per cent in mail transportation payments, at a cost to the Post Office Department estimated by Postmaster General Summerfield at about $145 million.

The Post Office Department asked Congress at the 1953 session for a general increase in mail rates, including that for air mail. The higher rates were projected to bring in $240 million a year in new revenue, as against an estimated postal deficit of $594 million. A bill carrying the new rates bogged down in House and Senate committees.

However, a rise in the fourth class (parcel post) mail rate, effective on October 1, was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Fourth class rates may be changed without action of Congress.

In an interview published on July 31 the postmaster general said that moving all postal matter by the fastest method, at a uniform charge, was "certainly something that we can look into in the future." That was especially true because the railroads are "constantly deleting from their schedules passenger trains that are unprofitable. . . . Obviously, when those trains cease running, there is only one of two things we can do with the mail—either put it in the air or put it on the highways."

Under President Eisenhower's Reorganization Plan 10, subsidy payments to air lines will be transferred for accounting purposes from the Post Office Department to the Civil Aeronautics Board as of October 1. The change affects neither air line revenues nor air mail rates, but it will automatically reduce the annual postal deficit by about $79 million.

The additional revenue from the parcel post rise will amount to $160 million, according to Summerfield. And Congress at the last session relieved the Post Office Department of the bookkeeping cost of handling free mail for Congress and the executive branch, cutting the postal deficit by about $36 million.

Summerfield estimated that the rate increases asked by the Post Office Department would have held the postal deficit down to about $75 million a year. But he noted that whenever Congress has raised mail rates in the past, the share taken by carriers, postal employes, and others with claims on the department has risen faster than the new revenues. "That is one of the reasons for the deficit mounting so rapidly."

Nixon's Mission

Vice President Nixon's tour of the Far East can serve several useful purposes. It is designed to demonstrate that Asia occupies as large a place in the administration's thinking as Europe does. It is also intended to give the President, through the Nixon eyes and ears, a fresh and accurate picture of the complex Asian scene. It is not calculated to produce important changes in policy, but some modifications may flow from it even while it is in progress.

There is no question that this mission, unprecedented in the history of the vice presidency, will be notice to all concerned that the United States is deeply interested in the future of the Far East. Instructions have been given that official entertainment must be held to a minimum. An absence of pomp, added to an emphasis on "listening and learning" from ordinary people as well as officials, should help convince the vice president's hosts that Americans are sincere in their professions of friendship.

As for Mr. Nixon's eyesight and hearing, they should be keen enough to make his report valuable. He has been putting both to good use during the months since the administration came to power, according to Washington observers, and the President has found important tasks for them. It is therefore quite conceivable that if he should suggest immediate action in a particular situation, even while he is still on tour, his advice will be taken.

But it may be that still another purpose, of primary significance, is behind the Nixon journey. Possibly the President is considering a major policy change that would recast U. S. strategy in the Far East along the lines of the pattern that has been followed in Europe. Application of the principle of collective security to Asia may be under consideration.

A-Guns To Europe

U. S. Army's announcement of the impending shipment of six atomic cannon to NATO forces in Europe was followed the next day by a news story in a Moscow paper that Russia has recently exploded several more atomic bombs of advanced design. All the belligerent news seems to be atomic.

In Washington the Federal Civil Defense Administration has revealed its official list of 193 American cities which it regards as probable targets of atomic attack, including 70 it has tagged as "critical" target areas.

What effect arrival of the atomic cannon will have on the tactical and strategic situation of NATO ground forces is a matter of conjecture. It seems highly probable that NATO training and tactics have been conducted with the possibility in mind of having atomic cannon as a backstop.

The fact that the U. S. has such a weapon has been common knowledge for two years, and the fact that it actually works and can throw an atomic projectile was amply demonstrated several months ago in weapons tests in Nevada.

The Army's announcement makes it clear that the cannon will be assigned to one of the six U. S. divisions now in Europe. This new and terrible weapon will give the European forces now in being both a physical and psychological lift, and will further demonstrate that the United States has pushed its atomic weapons program along to a high state of refinement.

Stainless Steel Joints

Anyone who fractures a hip nowadays stands a good chance of having the parts held together with a nail, plate, screw, wire, or pin. Some of these devices are made of stainless steel and others of vitallium or other durable, noncorrosive material. Once inserted, it remains forever, provided complications do not intervene.

The hip is a ball and socket joint. The ball portion is the upper part of the thigh bone and is shaped like a cane with a knob (the ball) at one end. When the break occurs in this vicinity, the separation often robs the rounded end of its blood supply. In the past, when this complication occurred, nothing could be done except to fashion a new hip joint out of the bone that remained. More recently, a metal joint has been devised to replace the shattered knob. There are many varieties and some look like an enlarged upholstery tack with a smooth, shiny head which fits into the socket, and the nail or peg is attached to the head and fastened to the leg bone. Those who do this work must be not only good surgeons but excellent carpenters as well.

These new appliances were developed as a result of necessity. Hip fracture is most common in elderly persons and ordinarily takes up to three months to heal, with the individual remaining quietly in bed. Prolonged confinement is dangerous for any one over 60 because it often leads to pneumonia. The alternative is to hold the fractured parts together artificially, and it is for this purpose that nails, screws, plates, and wires were devised.

Operation is required and, with the aid of X-ray, one of these fasteners is inserted and the ends are united in much the same way as a skilled craftsman joins two pieces of wood. The union is sufficient to allow the victim to move about in bed and shortly thereafter to stand without bearing weight upon the injured member. For the majority this means getting about in a wheel chair or on crutches. It is not ideal, but far superior and safer than lying quietly in bed.

Few of us give a second thought to the prevention of hip fracture. The scatter rug or a smooth floor is a liability in any home where an elderly person lives. More hips have been broken thru tripping or slipping on one of these rugs than from any other mishap. If they cannot be fastened down or made skidproof, give them to the grandchildren for safekeeping. Keep the stairways clear and well lighted and provide a railing for support. Icy sidewalks and curbs also are a nemesis, and the same can be said of a slippery bathtub or shower floor. When these hazards are combined with weakness and loss of agility, it is surprising that more hips are not broken.

DAILY SHAMPOO

Mrs. G. J. writes: Is it harmful to wash the hair every day?

REPLY

No, but it is not necessary except in certain occupations. Too frequent shampooing removes oil from the scalp and leaves the hair dry. But even here oily ointments or lotions can be used as replacements.

POUNDING HEART

G. L. writes: If palpitation of the heart is the result of psychoneurosis (that's what my doctor says), can the heart become affected by this pounding day after day?

REPLY

This is a moot question. In many instances, palpitation is more of a sensation than a reality and no harm results.

DONATIONS AND ANTIBODIES

W. F. writes: Are the antibodies in the blood reduced in quantity if one makes blood donations regularly?

REPLY

Little is known about the formation of antibodies except that apparently they are being manufactured constantly, hence are unaffected by blood donations.

SHE DISAGREES

Mrs. S. writes: You stated recently in a reply that a person's disposition could not be affected by anemia. I have anemia and any time I neglect taking medicine, my family can tell because I become so cross and short tempered. The same is true of my mother who also has anemia. I know of two other anemic women who have a bad temper when in need of medicine. This is just a layman's opinion but may be worth considering.

REPLY

I still doubt a relationship between the disposition and the blood count if the remedy is skipped for a few days. Even though medication is stopped, weeks would elapse before the effect would be noted on the blood count. There also are those who say they cannot be civil until they have their morning coffee.

ASTHMA IN ELDERLY

G. T. write: What can be done to make old people with asthma more comfortable?

REPLY

The first question to be answered is: Why does asthma exist? Successful treatment requires elimination of the cause.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ambassador Guggenheim Discourages Visitors In Portugal; Battler For Small Business Bows Out Of Government; Oil Companies Watch Critic Retire

WASHINGTON—Seldom have so many new American ambassadors been appointed from one city than the rash of Washington socialites named by the Eisenhower administration to represent the United States abroad. They include millionaire Bob Guggenheim, ambassador to Portugal; serious-minded philanthropist Corrin Strong, ambassador to Norway; charming party-giver Wiley Buchanan, who replaces Perle Mesta in Luxembourg; and palpitating Arthur Gardner, scion-in-law of part of the Ford motor fortune, who is ambassador to Cuba.

All were given a devastating round of farewell parties before they left Washington and none got a more intensive send-off than Ambassador Guggenheim, heir of the Guggenheim copper millions.

Apparently the ebullient Bob figured that many of the people who entertained him in Washington were expecting to come to Portugal to be entertained by him in return. At any rate he got a little stuffy about dinner parties in his honor, wanted to know who was coming, demanded that dinner start promptly at 8:30 p. m.

"How are you going to get people to dine at 8:30 at your embassy when the Portuguese don't dine until 10:30?" asked Mrs. Anthony McAuliffe, wife of the famed "Nuts!" general who refused to surrender to the Germans in the Battle of the Bulge.

"It'll be my embassy," replied the new ambassador, "and if they don't come at 8:30 they won't get any dinner.

"It's a small embassy," he continued, "and I can seat only 22. In my dining room here at home I seat 75."

"But small dinners are better because that's where you get your information," suggested another guest.

Guggenheim agreed that it was the duty of an ambassador to secure information, but continued to comment about the smallness of the embassy.

"When any of you come to see me," he warned, "I'm not going to have you stay at the embassy. I'll reserve a room for you at the hotel and send you the bill."

"Then I can't possibly afford to visit you," chided Mrs. McAuliffe. "An Army officer's salary is too low."

"I'm sorry," concluded the ambassador, whose bark is worse than his bite, "but I refuse to have anyone share my bathroom."

NOTE — Charming Ambassador Arthur Gardner spent a cool summer in Michigan, rather than Cuba, waiting for the American embassy in Havana to have its roof repaired. Arthur was not unhappy about avoiding a Cuban summer, and the State Department was not unhappy about having him avoid it.

Small-Business Champion

One of the toughest, fightingest battlers for small business Washington has seen in many a year stepped out of government yesterday. He is Commissioner Steve Spingarn, member of the Federal Trade Commission, who probably did more to revive the commission's original concept of free competition than any other man in a decade.

Spingarn began life as a Teddy Roosevelt Republican and did his best to carry out T. R.'s attempt to prevent the American economy from being dominated by big business. His views are the exact opposite of General Motors' Charley Wilson, who today is busy concentrating military production in the hands of three or four big firms.

So naturally when Spingarn's term expired yesterday he was not reappointed.

Before he stepped out, however, the irrepressible young commissioner fired some blasts that may make precedent inside the Federal Trade Commission.

He warned that funds for protecting free enterprise were cut dangerously low and demanded that FTC funds be fixed directly by Congress, not by the White House under the Budget Bureau. Congress, he pointed out, had set up the trade commission as an independent agency to check on the executive branch of government, not to kowtow to it. Therefore its funds should not be scuttled—as they have been recently—by the White House.

Dangerous Oil Cartel

But the outgoing commissioner fired his most potent blast at the oil cartel which he had helped to expose and prosecute. This expose led to a grand jury investigation of five of the nation's top oil companies, a probe later dropped by the Eisenhower administration.

Since the ending of price controls and of this prosecution, Spingarn pointed out, the oil companies have boosted prices to the point where it will annually cost the American consumer up to a billion dollars.

"Meanwhile," he said, "one major company has taken cash dividends out of its Middle Eastern oil holdings during the past five years amounting to 1,489 per cent of its average investment.

"It's easy to understand in view of these price increases why the oil companies so bitterly and so relentlessly fought me and the commission's oil report."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Even They Slip

A document has come into my hands which is a secret instruction to the leaders of the Communist party on the state of the nation and what they should do about it.

One section is entitled: "Defense of Party's legality—Vital Aspect of Struggle for Democratic Rights." The very first sentence of this section reads:

"The defense of our party's legality is not, and must not be allowed to become a partisan concern of the Communists..."

In a word, the defense of the Communist party is to be made a United Front activity; innocent elements are to be dragged into the defense. Further it says:

"The failure of the enemy to outlaw the Communist party despite its seven-year offensive is a tribute to the depth of the democratic sentiments of the American people as well as to the tenacious fight back by the Communist party and its members. In this respect, the present moment is characterized by the preparation of new blows against the party on the part of the Eisenhower administration through continuation of Smith Act indictments, vigorous application of the McCarran Act, and growing tendencies to press for the direct outlawing of the party."

However, the Communists have found ways of defeating all attempts to make them illegal. They admit that they are suffering from "a fatalist acceptance of the inevitability of the illegalization of the party," and some of their followers have "liquidationist concepts."

Discussing the trials under the Smith Act, the Communists claim certain gains, particularly the dismissal against Simon Gerson and Isidore Begun. Praising some of their courage in the courtroom, for turning "the prisoners dock into a forum for the militant denunciation of the government's drive to war and fascism," they, nevertheless, take note of certain weakness and shortcomings in the struggle of the party against the Smith Act. Apparently, some of their lawyers wanted to try the cases according to the rules of evidence, which the Communists call "legalist pressures."

The party objects to registering as a foreign agent on these grounds:

"...While the Smith Act prosecutions were directed chiefly at the leadership of the party, the McCarran decision, if enforced will be directed at the party as a whole, while the Smith Act arrests, especially in the second round, showed a tendency to move over to the attack of non-party mass organizations...they were mainly directed against the party..."

The Communists lay their hopes now in the so-called Liberals. This is what they say:

"Hence even supporters of the Truman administration who were passive or neutral in the fight against Smith Act prosecutions can be enlisted in the struggle against application of the McCarran Act, for an end to the prosecutions against those organizations cited; for the Supreme Court acting to throw the McCarran Act citation against the Communist party out as unconstitutional."

They instruct their members and adherents to labor valiantly for amnesty for the Communist criminals who are now in prison. Already such a movement has made its appearance in a suggestion that those who have been in error should be forgiven—spies, subversives, wreckers—all of them should be forgiven. "...We must explore the possibilities of broadening the fight for amnesty to include amnesty for all victims of all repressive, anti-democratic legislation — including T-H victims, McCarran-Walter victims, victims of congressional contempt citations, etc. It is beyond doubt that such an approach, if successful, could open the door to wider approaches to the trade unions, national group organizations, etc."

So, what is to be done?

Members of the party are instructed:

"First of all we must enlist the masses in the fight against FBI harassment, surveillance, intimidation and stool-pigeon activity as part and parcel of the fight against the trend toward a police state and McCarthyism...

" Because of the Gestapo-like methods of the FBI, the continued exercise of the party's democratic rights, particularly the ability of its leadership to function, has made necessary a major change in the organizational structure and methods of functioning of the party and its leadership. But this change is being accompanied by less political and ideological mobilization of the membership than usually goes along with the most routine party campaign "

For the first time in the history of the Communist party, this instruction admits despairing defeat. And for their troubles, they blame the FBI.

Here And Now

Lures

Lures is a fisherman's term, although it has a wide range of connotation in other areas of life.

The demagogue bites with sophistry.

The scarlet woman entraps with blandishment. Read the seventh chapter of Proverbs for her modus operandi.

Satan is wily. He plays tricks on unwary youth, putting poison in the cup that sparkles, and inflicting strange hallucinations upon the addicts of marijuana.

The devil plays possum. When he apears to be dead he is most alive. He poses as a saint when it suits his convenience.

"The devil was sick, the devil
a saint would be;
The devil was well, the devil
a saint was he."

Say nothing of the gimmicks by which the lower orders get their living, propagate and serve their ends, man, created male and female in the image of God, is endowed with faculties, propensities and urges by which he may fulfill the purposes of his creation.

Cleopatra's Nose Important

Alas! man may despoil that image, but the eternal interdependence of the sexes remains intact. The devices that lure to marriage are native-born, and marriage itself is a sacred relationship, that no promiscuity or grounds other than Scriptural, should be allowed to disrupt.

It is an anachronism to say that Eve was created for "Adam's express company," but it is timely to associate beauty with womanhood and ruggedness with masculinity.

The best dressed women in Washington elicit but mild interest, except to the ladies, but a bevy of undressed beauties in Atlantic City get out the masculine vote.

If Cleopatra's nose had been longer the whole face of the earth would have been changed. Her feminine finesse and physical charm vamped Caesar to his destruction, and Marc Anthony fell in the same trap.

Even when circumstances preclude marriage, woman is naturally and innocently coquettish, supplementing her native lure with artificial fascinations; and though she never expects to marry, when and if her hero comes along, she will readily exchange her celibate vows for connubial ones, and take to matrimony as naturally as a duck takes to water, especially if they can afford to live in a penthouse.

Miles Standish was too busy soldiering to court Priscilla Mullins, so he sent John Alden to do the job for him. John overplayed the part, and Priscilla proposed: "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

Like many another foolish man who eschews marriage, Miles Standish lost out. John Alden was the Romeo and Priscilla the Juliet, and among their descendents was Longfellow, the poet, who in verse sapiently expressed the mutuality of the marital relationship:

As unto the bow the cord is,
So unto the man is woman;
Though she bends him, she obeys him,
Though she draws him, yet she follows
Useless each without the other.

A man's wife is his better half. That being the case, she deserves a better husband than she sometimes gets. On the other hand it may be "better to live in a corner of the housetop than in a house shared with a contentious woman."

Remote Control Direction

How the "weaker sex" ever got into our vocabulary is anybody's guess. It is a misnomer, for what woman lacks in size and brawn she makes up in her intuition, her sane judgment, her guardianship over her family, her piety. Her best contribution to the domestic partnership is her understanding of her husband and her fine art of directing his decisions by remote control.

Many a man hides behind his wife's skirts, if she wears them any more, when he wouldn't have courage enough to face the world in his own strength.

If Pilate had taken the advice of his wife when Jesus was on trial before him, he would not have made the assinine blunder he did. For details turn to Matthew 27:19.

If a man wants to get on in the world let him look well to his prospective partner. See her at breakfast before she applies her makeup. Hear her mellifluous voice when the toast burns. Then, if she fills the bill he can croon:

"I saw them all—just couldn't fall till we met:

Romances are perennials. They break out at all times and in unexpected places. They sometimes begin in childhood, and often occur in age. A woman is as old as she looks, while a man is never old till he stops looking.

Present-day matrimonial agencies are not always successful in bringing about proper marriages. If, however, you are interested in the story of a real romance, one that would grace the pages of "Atlantic" or "Ladies' Home Journal," go back several centuries before Christ to a primitive rural community and see how a matrimonial agency, headed by an astute mother-in-law, plotted the marriage of her favorite daughter-in-law, a widow, to a wealthy bachelor farmer, and by a succession of lures effected its consummation; and read the sequel to that happy union.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—They may have been cool with their hands of applause at the American Federation of Labor convention in their reception of Vice President Nixon, who read a special message from President Eisenhower on labor problems, but it is more important that the labor-union leaders remain cool in their heads as Congress approaches the task of amending the Taft-Hartley Act.

It will not do the labor-union officials any good with the country to accuse a man of Dwight Eisenhower's integrity of having violated his word or broken his agreement, and it would be wiser to accept Mr. Nixon's explanation that what occurred was a "misunderstanding" at the White House concerning the status of the proposals made by Martin Durkin, former secretary of Labor to change the labor-management law.

Nixon Handled Job Well

The President was very well advised to send Vice President Nixon to the AFL convention at St. Louis and let him talk frankly in addition to reading a special message. For Mr. Nixon's words implied clearly that the administration is not going to allow any such impression to grow throughout the country as was fostered in speeches earlier this week by labor-union leaders—namely, that the President made and broke an "agreement" just because some members of his staff showed a sympathetic attitude toward some of Mr. Durkin's ideas on amending the Taft-Hartley Act.

If union leaders want to make an issue of it, there is plenty that can be said by the administration about the real meaning of the amendments Mr. Durkin sponsored. The facts of political life today, as shown by votes in the last election, are that the rank and file of labor is beginning to be unhappy over dictatorships within trade unions and is beginning to resent the bossism which often prevails. When the workers really become aware of the absolute tyranny that would have been possible—the control by a clique of union officers of all jobs in certain plants and business establishments—they will be grateful that the amendments were stymied.

Thost attending an AFL convention are the paid officials of trade unions—the professionals—who are in control of the unions and want to stay in control. Under a law like the Wagner Act, with the "closed shop," and under the proposed amendments, they could become monarchs and hold the power of life and death over a worker's livelihood.

The administration might well consider, if it becomes necessary taking the case to the country and explaining in detail how the proposed amendment would have enslaved the worker. Such a course would be desirable, however, only if the AFL and CIO declare open warfare on the administration and withhold their cooperation from the efforts that will surely be made in the next session of Congress to try to work out an agreement on amendments satisfactory to both labor and management.

The President pointed significantly to the conferences that lie ahead, and it is up to the labor-union leaders to determine whether they are going to be as adamant as they have been in the past when they demanded repeal or nothing by way of corrective amendments. They could have had amendments long before this, but they wanted all or nothing. Incidentally, the newspaper headlines did not emphasize one of the most important things Mr. Eisenhower wrote in his message to the AFL — something that it took courage to say before such an audience;

Not Sabotaging Law

"Even though the past six years have revealed a number of defects which should be corrected, I believe that its enactment (the Taft-Hartley Law) was a substantial contribution to the quest for sounder labor-management relations. I believe that the experience under the act has confirmed its essential soundness."

That doesn't sound like the President is abandoning the Taft-Hartley Act, nor did he in his message pledge himself to sabotage the law by amendments that nullify its basic principles. Instead, he promises to cooperate in removing clauses that might lead to possible abuses and in adding provisions to expedite the administration of the statute.

But the whole story from the administration's standpoint is told briefly in a simple principle which the President suggested in his message might be used as a guide in writing amendments to the existing law. That principle, as he expresses it, is "to allow freedom for the healthy growth of trade unions, while respecting the legitimate rights of individual workers, their employers and the general public."

What the President hopes to accomplish is to make sure that the Taft-Hartley Act remains a law that does not enslave the worker by making him the tool of union bosses but emancipates him so that his civil liberties are preserved. That's liberalism in its best sense.

Whittling Down Postal Deficit

A plan for raising the first-class mail rate to five cents for the first ounce and using air transportation for most first-class mail moved more than 400 miles is being studied by a citizens' advisory committee to the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee. The goal would be overnight delivery throughout the country eventually. President W. C. Doherty of the Letter Carriers Union (AFL) urges that the plan be given "serious study."

The plan is opposed by the railroads, which would stand to lose an estimated 7¼ per cent of their present mail revenues. Any such loss would curtail the carriers' total revenues by 1/5 of 1 per cent. The railroads have been asking for an increase of 45 per cent in mail transportation payments, at a cost to the Post Office Department estimated by Postmaster General Summerfield at about $145 million.

The Post Office Department asked Congress at the 1953 session for a general increase in mail rates, including that for air mail. The higher rates were projected to bring in $240 million a year in new revenue, as against an estimated postal deficit of $594 million. A bill carrying the new rates bogged down in House and Senate committees.

However, a rise in the fourth class (parcel post) mail rate, effective on October 1, was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Fourth class rates may be changed without action of Congress.

In an interview published on July 31 the postmaster general said that moving all postal matter by the fastest method, at a uniform charge, was "certainly something that we can look into in the future." That was especially true because the railroads are "constantly deleting from their schedules passenger trains that are unprofitable. . . . Obviously, when those trains cease running, there is only one of two things we can do with the mail—either put it in the air or put it on the highways."

Under President Eisenhower's Reorganization Plan 10, subsidy payments to air lines will be transferred for accounting purposes from the Post Office Department to the Civil Aeronautics Board as of October 1. The change affects neither air line revenues nor air mail rates, but it will automatically reduce the annual postal deficit by about $79 million.

The additional revenue from the parcel post rise will amount to $160 million, according to Summerfield. And Congress at the last session relieved the Post Office Department of the bookkeeping cost of handling free mail for Congress and the executive branch, cutting the postal deficit by about $36 million.

Summerfield estimated that the rate increases asked by the Post Office Department would have held the postal deficit down to about $75 million a year. But he noted that whenever Congress has raised mail rates in the past, the share taken by carriers, postal employes, and others with claims on the department has risen faster than the new revenues. "That is one of the reasons for the deficit mounting so rapidly."

Nixon's Mission

Vice President Nixon's tour of the Far East can serve several useful purposes. It is designed to demonstrate that Asia occupies as large a place in the administration's thinking as Europe does. It is also intended to give the President, through the Nixon eyes and ears, a fresh and accurate picture of the complex Asian scene. It is not calculated to produce important changes in policy, but some modifications may flow from it even while it is in progress.

There is no question that this mission, unprecedented in the history of the vice presidency, will be notice to all concerned that the United States is deeply interested in the future of the Far East. Instructions have been given that official entertainment must be held to a minimum. An absence of pomp, added to an emphasis on "listening and learning" from ordinary people as well as officials, should help convince the vice president's hosts that Americans are sincere in their professions of friendship.

As for Mr. Nixon's eyesight and hearing, they should be keen enough to make his report valuable. He has been putting both to good use during the months since the administration came to power, according to Washington observers, and the President has found important tasks for them. It is therefore quite conceivable that if he should suggest immediate action in a particular situation, even while he is still on tour, his advice will be taken.

But it may be that still another purpose, of primary significance, is behind the Nixon journey. Possibly the President is considering a major policy change that would recast U. S. strategy in the Far East along the lines of the pattern that has been followed in Europe. Application of the principle of collective security to Asia may be under consideration.

A-Guns To Europe

U. S. Army's announcement of the impending shipment of six atomic cannon to NATO forces in Europe was followed the next day by a news story in a Moscow paper that Russia has recently exploded several more atomic bombs of advanced design. All the belligerent news seems to be atomic.

In Washington the Federal Civil Defense Administration has revealed its official list of 193 American cities which it regards as probable targets of atomic attack, including 70 it has tagged as "critical" target areas.

What effect arrival of the atomic cannon will have on the tactical and strategic situation of NATO ground forces is a matter of conjecture. It seems highly probable that NATO training and tactics have been conducted with the possibility in mind of having atomic cannon as a backstop.

The fact that the U. S. has such a weapon has been common knowledge for two years, and the fact that it actually works and can throw an atomic projectile was amply demonstrated several months ago in weapons tests in Nevada.

The Army's announcement makes it clear that the cannon will be assigned to one of the six U. S. divisions now in Europe. This new and terrible weapon will give the European forces now in being both a physical and psychological lift, and will further demonstrate that the United States has pushed its atomic weapons program along to a high state of refinement.

Stainless Steel Joints

Anyone who fractures a hip nowadays stands a good chance of having the parts held together with a nail, plate, screw, wire, or pin. Some of these devices are made of stainless steel and others of vitallium or other durable, noncorrosive material. Once inserted, it remains forever, provided complications do not intervene.

The hip is a ball and socket joint. The ball portion is the upper part of the thigh bone and is shaped like a cane with a knob (the ball) at one end. When the break occurs in this vicinity, the separation often robs the rounded end of its blood supply. In the past, when this complication occurred, nothing could be done except to fashion a new hip joint out of the bone that remained. More recently, a metal joint has been devised to replace the shattered knob. There are many varieties and some look like an enlarged upholstery tack with a smooth, shiny head which fits into the socket, and the nail or peg is attached to the head and fastened to the leg bone. Those who do this work must be not only good surgeons but excellent carpenters as well.

These new appliances were developed as a result of necessity. Hip fracture is most common in elderly persons and ordinarily takes up to three months to heal, with the individual remaining quietly in bed. Prolonged confinement is dangerous for any one over 60 because it often leads to pneumonia. The alternative is to hold the fractured parts together artificially, and it is for this purpose that nails, screws, plates, and wires were devised.

Operation is required and, with the aid of X-ray, one of these fasteners is inserted and the ends are united in much the same way as a skilled craftsman joins two pieces of wood. The union is sufficient to allow the victim to move about in bed and shortly thereafter to stand without bearing weight upon the injured member. For the majority, this means getting about in a wheel chair or on crutches. It is not ideal, but far superior and safer than lying quietly in bed.

Few of us give a second thought to the prevention of hip fracture. The scatter rug or a smooth floor is a liability in any home where an elderly person lives. More hips have been broken thru tripping or slipping on one of these rugs than from any other mishap. If they cannot be fastened down or made skidproof, give them to the grandchildren for safekeeping. Keep the stairways clear and well lighted and provide a railing for support. Icy sidewalks and curbs also are a nemesis, and the same can be said of a slippery bathtub or shower floor. When these hazards are combined with weakness and loss of agility, it is surprising that more hips are not broken.

DAILY SHAMPOO

Mrs. G. J. writes: Is it harmful to wash the hair every day?

REPLY

No, but it is not necessary except in certain occupations. Too frequent shampooing removes oil from the scalp and leaves the hair dry. But even here oily ointments or lotions can be used as replacements.

POUNDING HEART

G. L. writes: If palpitation of the heart is the result of psychoneurosis (that's what my doctor says), can the heart become affected by this pounding day after day?

REPLY

This is a moot question. In many instances, palpitation is more of a sensation than a reality and no harm results.

DONATIONS AND ANTIBODIES

W. F. writes: Are the antibodies in the blood reduced in quantity if one makes blood donations regularly?

REPLY

Little is known about the formation of antibodies except that apparently they are being manufactured constantly, hence are unaffected by blood donations.

SHE DISAGREES

Mrs. S. writes: You stated recently in a reply that a person's disposition could not be affected by anemia. I have anemia and any time I neglect taking medicine, my family can tell because I become so cross and short tempered. The same is true of my mother who also has anemia. I know of two other anemic women who have a bad temper when in need of medicine. This is just a layman's opinion but may be worth considering.

REPLY

I still doubt a relationship between the disposition and the blood count if the remedy is skipped for a few days. Even though medication is stopped, weeks would elapse before the effect would be noted on the blood count. There also are those who say they cannot be civil until they have their morning coffee.

ASTHMA IN ELDERLY

G. T. write: What can be done to make old people with asthma more comfortable?

The first question to be answered is: Why does asthma exist? Successful treatment requires elimination of the cause.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ambassador Guggenheim Discourages Visitors In Portugal; Battler For Small Business Bows Out Of Government; Oil Companies Watch Critic Retire

WASHINGTON—Seldom have so many new American ambassadors been appointed from one city than the rash of Washington socialites named by the Eisenhower administration to represent the United States abroad. They include millionaire Bob Guggenheim, ambassador to Portugal; serious-minded philanthropist Corrin Strong, ambassador to Norway; charming party-giver Wiley Buchanan, who replaces Perle Mesta in Luxembourg; and palpitating Arthur Gardner, scion-in-law of part of the Ford motor fortune, who is ambassador to Cuba.

All were given a devastating round of farewell parties before they left Washington and none got a more intensive send-off than Ambassador Guggenheim, heir of the Guggenheim copper millions. Apparently the ebullient Bob figured that many of the people who entertained him in Washington were expecting to come to Portugal to be entertained by him in return. At any rate he got a little stuffy about dinner parties in his honor, wanted to know who was coming, demanded that dinner start promptly at 8:30 p. m.

"How are you going to get people to dine at 8:30 at your embassy when the Portuguese don't dine until 10:30?" asked Mrs. Anthony McAuliffe, wife of the famed "Nuts!" general who refused to surrender to the Germans in the Battle of the Bulge.

"It'll be my embassy," replied the new ambassador, "and if they don't come at 8:30 they won't get any dinner.

"It's a small embassy," he continued, "and I can seat only 22. In my dining room here at home I seat 75."

"But small dinners are better because that's where you get your information," suggested another guest.

Guggenheim agreed that it was the duty of an ambassador to secure information, but continued to comment about the smallness of the embassy.

"When any of you come to see, me," he warned, "I'm not going to have you stay at the embassy. I'll reserve a room for you at the hotel and send you the bill."

"Then I can't possibly afford to visit you," chided Mrs. McAuliffe. "An Army officer's salary is too low."

"I'm sorry," concluded the ambassador, whose bark is worse than his bite, "but I refuse to have anyone share my bathroom."

NOTE — Charming Ambassador Arthur Gardner spent a cool summer in Michigan, rather than Cuba, waiting for the American embassy in Havana to have its roof repaired. Arthur was not unhappy about avoiding a Cuban summer, and the State Department was not unhappy about having him avoid it.

Small-Business Champion

One of the toughest, fightingest battlers for small business Washington has seen in many a year stepped out of government yesterday. He is Commissioner Steve Spingarn, member of the Federal Trade Commission, who probably did more to revive the commission's original concept of free competition than any other man in a decade.

Spingarn began life as a Teddy Roosevelt Republican and did his best to carry out T. R.'s attempt to prevent the American economy from being dominated by big business. His views are the exact opposite of General Motors' Charley Wilson, who today is busy concentrating military production in the hands of three or four big firms.

So naturally when Spingarn's term expired yesterday he was not reappointed.

Before he stepped out, however, the irrepressible young commissioner fired some blasts that may make precedent inside the Federal Trade Commission.

He warned that funds for protecting free enterprise were cut dangerously low and demanded that FTC funds be fixed directly by Congress, not by the White House under the Budget Bureau. Congress, he pointed out, had set up the trade commission as an independent agency to check on the executive branch of government, not to kowtow to it. Therefore its funds should not be scuttled—as they have been recently—by the White House.

Dangerous Oil Cartel

But the outgoing commissioner fired his most potent blast at the oil cartel which he had helped to expose and prosecute. This expose led to a grand jury investigation of five of the nation's top oil companies, a probe later dropped by the Eisenhower administration.

Since the ending of price controls and of this prosecution, Spingarn pointed out, the oil companies have boosted prices to the point where it will annually cost the American consumer up to a billion dollars.

"Meanwhile," he said, "one major company has taken cash dividends out of its Middle Eastern oil holdings during the past five years amounting to 1,489 per cent of its average investment.

"It's easy to understand in view of these price increases why the oil companies so bitterly and so relentlessly fought me and the commission's oil report."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Even They Slip

A document has come into my hands which is a secret instruction to the leaders of the Communist party on the state of the nation and what they should do about it.

One section is entitled: "Defense of Party's legality—Vital Aspect of Struggle for Democratic Rights." The very first sentence of this section reads:

"The defense of our party's legality is not, and must not be allowed to become a partisan concern of the Communists..."

In a word, the defense of the Communist party is to be made a United Front activity; innocent elements are to be dragged into the defense. Further it says:

"The failure of the enemy to outlaw the Communist party despite its seven-year offensive is a tribute to the depth of the democratic sentiments of the American people as well as to the tenacious fight back by the Communist party and its members. In this respect, the present moment is characterized by the preparation of new blows against the party on the part of the Eisenhower administration through continuation of Smith Act indictments, vigorous application of the McCarran Act, and growing tendencies to press for the direct outlawing of the party."

However, the Communists have found ways of defeating all attempts to make them illegal. They admit that they are suffering from "a fatalist acceptance of the inevitability of the illegalization of the party," and some of their followers have "liquidationist concepts."

Discussing the trials under the Smith Act, the Communists claim certain gains, particularly the dismissal against Simon Gerson and Isidore Begun. Praising some of their courage in the courtroom, for turning "the prisoners dock into a forum for the militant denunciation of the government's drive to war and fascism," they, nevertheless, take note of certain weakness and shortcomings in the struggle of the party against the Smith Act. Apparently, some of their lawyers wanted to try the cases according to the rules of evidence, which the Communists call "legalist pressures."

The party objects to registering as a foreign agent on these grounds:

"...While the Smith Act prosecutions were directed chiefly at the leadership of the party, the McCarran decision, if enforced will be directed at the party as a whole, while the Smith Act arrests, especially in the second round, showed a tendency to move over to the attack of non-party mass organizations...they were mainly directed against the party..."

The Communists lay their hopes now in the so-called Liberals. This is what they say:

"Hence even supporters of the Truman administration who were passive or neutral in the fight against Smith Act prosecutions can be enlisted in the struggle against application of the McCarran Act, for an end to the prosecutions against those organizations cited; for the Supreme Court acting to throw the McCarran Act citation against the Communist party out as unconstitutional."

They instruct their members and adherents to labor valiantly for amnesty for the Communist criminals who are now in prison. Already such a movement has made its appearance in a suggestion that those who have been in error should be forgiven—spies, subversives, wreckers—all of them should be forgiven. "...We must explore the possibilities of broadening the fight for amnesty to include amnesty for all victims of all repressive, anti-democratic legislation — including T-H victims, McCarran-Walter victims, victims of congressional contempt citations, etc. It is beyond doubt that such an approach, if successful, could open the door to wider approaches to the trade unions, national group organizations, etc."

So, what is to be done?

Members of the party are instructed:

"First of all we must enlist the masses in the fight against FBI harassment, surveillance, intimidation and stool-pigeon activity as part and parcel of the fight against the trend toward a police state and McCarthyism...

"Because of the Gestapo-like methods of the FBI, the continued exercise of the party's democratic rights, particularly the ability of its leadership to function, has made necessary a major change in the organizational structure and methods of functioning of the party and its leadership. But this change is being accompanied by less political and ideological mobilization of the membership than usually goes along with the most routine party campaign"

For the first time in the history of the Communist party, this instruction admits despairing defeat. And for their troubles, they blame the FBI.

Here And Now

Lures

Lures is a fisherman's term, although it has a wide range of connotation in other areas of life.

The demagogue bites with sophistry.

The scarlet woman entraps with blandishment. Read the seventh chapter of Proverbs for her modus operandi.

Satan is wily. He plays tricks on unwary youth, putting poison in the cup that sparkles, and inflicting strange hallucinations upon the addicts of marijuana.

The devil plays possum. When he apears to be dead he is most alive. He poses as a saint when it suits his convenience.

"The devil was sick, the devil
a saint would be;
The devil was well, the devil
a saint was he."

Say nothing of the gimmicks by which the lower orders get their living, propagate and serve their ends, man, created male and female in the image of God, is endowed with faculties, propensities and urges by which he may fulfill the purposes of his creation.

Cleopatra's Nose Important

Alas! man may despoil that image, but the eternal interdependence of the sexes remains intact. The devices that lure to marriage are native-born, and marriage itself is a sacred relationship, that no promiscuity or grounds other than Scriptural, should be allowed to disrupt.

It is an anachronism to say that Eve was created for "Adam's express company," but it is timely to associate beauty with womanhood and ruggedness with masculinity.

The best dressed women in Washington elicit but mild interest, except to the ladies, but a bevy of undressed beauties in Atlantic City get out the masculine vote.

If Cleopatra's nose had been longer the whole face of the earth would have been changed. Her feminine finesse and physical charm vamped Caesar to his destruction, and Marc Anthony fell in the same trap.

Even when circumstances preclude marriage, woman is naturally and innocently coquettish, supplementing her native lure with artificial fascinations; and though she never expects to marry, when and if her hero comes along, she will readily exchange her celibate vows for connubial ones, and take to matrimony as naturally as a duck takes to water, especially if they can afford to live in a penthouse.

Miles Standish was too busy soldiering to court Priscilla Mullins, so he sent John Alden to do the job for him. John overplayed the part, and Priscilla proposed: "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

Like many another foolish man who eschews marriage, Miles Standish lost out. John Alden was the Romeo and Priscilla the Juliet, and among their descendents was Longfellow, the poet, who in verse sapiently expressed the mutuality of the marital relationship:

As unto the bow the cord is,
So unto the man is woman;
Though she bends him, she obeys him,
Though she draws him, yet she follows
Useless each without the other.

A man's wife is his better half. That being the case, she deserves a better husband than she sometimes gets. On the other hand it may be "better to live in a corner of the housetop than in a house shared with a contentious woman."

Remote Control Direction

How the "weaker sex" ever got into our vocabulary is anybody's guess. It is a misnomer, for what woman lacks in size and brawn she makes up in her intuition, her sane judgment, her guardianship over her family, her piety. Her best contribution to the domestic partnership is her understanding of her husband and her fine art of directing his decisions by remote control.

Many a man hides behind his wife's skirts, if she wears them any more, when he wouldn't have courage enough to face the world in his own strength.

If Pilate had taken the advice of his wife when Jesus was on trial before him, he would not have made the assinine blunder he did. For details turn to Matthew 27:19.

If a man wants to get on in the world let him look well to his prospective partner. See her at breakfast before she applies her makeup. Hear her mellifluous voice when the toast burns. Then, if she fills the bill he can croon:

"I saw them all—just couldn't fall till we met:
It had to be You!"

Romances are perennials. They break out at all times and in unexpected places. They sometimes begin in childhood, and often occur in age. A woman is as old as she looks, while a man is never old till he stops looking.

Area Woodland Dedication Set For Next Month

Plans are being made to dedicate a 200 acre tract of forest land on the property of Virgil T. Steyer, near Gorman in Garrett County, sometime during the observance of Autumn Glory season in Western Maryland next month.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said the program is being held to award Steyer a certificate for having complied with the tree farm program as begun a number of years ago by the American Forest Products Industries.

Steyer, whose family has owned the property adjacent to the Potomac River near Gorman since 1916, operates a sawmill and combination store and post office at the community which bears his name.

The forest area has been cut twice in recent years under the selective cutting practice advocated by the AFPI, Johnson said. The tract includes red and white oak, ash, hickory, hemlock and sugar maple hardwoods. Steyer has annual crops of mine props, pulpwood and other timber as a result of the forest management practices he uses, Johnson said.

Steyer also has been reforesting land he owns near his large tract. A former Garrett County commissioner, he is a member of the Garrett County Forestry Advisory Board.

It is hoped to arrange the dedication and award program to coincide with a visit to Garrett County by Gov. McKeldin. The governor will present the certificate if his schedule permits. Gov. McKeldin is slated to speak at a meeting in Oakland on October 5, it was reported.

Top officials of the State Department of Forests and Parks are expected to attend the event.

Mary Catherine Everline Is Bride Of Harvey Troutman

Miss Mary Catherine Everline, daughter of Harold S. Everline, LaVale, and the late Mrs. Margaret Barnett Everline, became the bride of Harvey Albert Troutman, A1/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Troutman, Wellersburg, Pa., last evening.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7:45 o'clock in St. Mark's Evangelical Church with Rev. Louis Everline, Lincolnton, N. C., brother of the bride, officiating, assisted by Rev. Carl Clapp.

Miss Helen Lehr was her cousin's maid of honor and Miss Ella Fern Richardson and Miss Dolly Troutman, bridesmaids; Linda Martz was the flower girl. Leroy Troutman, brother of the bridegroom served as best man, while Ray Troutman, another brother, and Robert Everline, brother of the bride, were the ushers.

The church was decorated with standards of white flowers against a background of palms.

Charles Everline, brother of the bride, sang, "O Promise Me," "At Dawning," "Because," and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Vernon Adams, aunt of the bride, who also played "Traumerei," "I Love You Truly," "Andante Cantabile," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," and the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, high collared neckline and long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand. The front of the skirt was finished in scallops over an inset of Chantilly lace ruffles and swept into a full train. Her fingertip length veil of Swiss tulle, edged with lace, was held in place by a coronet trimmed in seed pearls. Completing her costume, she carried a white Bible centered with an orchid.

Her gown, and those of her attendants, which were made like the bride's were all designed and made by Mrs. Albert Lehr, Wellersburg, aunt of the bride. Their dresses had puffed sleeves and the center panel ruffles were of tulle instead of lace. Miss Lehr's was blue; Miss Richardson's yellow; and Miss Troutman's green. The little flower girl's was orchid and had the lace panel. They all wore net mitts and matching halos. They carried nosegays of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Frank Martz, sister of the bride, chose a black taffeta costume for the wedding. With it she wore a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Troutman chose a blue costume and had a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1948 and attended Frostburg State Teachers College one and one half years. She is a member of Cumberland Chapter, 56, Order of the Eastern Star. At present she is employed by her father at the Acme Heating Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Meyersdale High School, class of 1948. Serving in the Air Force for two and one half years, he has for the past one and one half years been with the 73rd Motor Vehicle Squadron in France. He is on a 30 day furlough and will return to France.

A wedding reception was held in the church social hall following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the floral decorations and tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells and a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Martz served the cake.

For their wedding trip to eastern states, the bride chose a traveling suit of light blue with dark blue accessories and her orchid corsage.

There comes a time in the lives of most children when they lose interest in purely childish things and their minds turn to the serious side of life.

When that happens, they lay aside their toys, begin to read something besides "story books," listen to the conversation of older people, and take pride in their ability to accomplish things. This is the borderland between childhood and youth.

Parents should recognize these symptoms, and should endeavor to give the child the right slant on life. It is the period when characters are shaped.

What better influence could be desired than that of religion? A knowledge of God, the influence and associations of the Church, the thoughts of great teachers—these are the foundations of character that will stand any test.

THE SERIOUS AGE

There comes a time in the lives of most children when they lose interest in purely childish things and their minds turn to the serious side of life.

When that happens, they lay aside their toys, begin to read something besides "story books," listen to the conversation of older people, and take pride in their ability to accomplish things. This is the borderland between childhood and youth.

Parents should recognize these symptoms, and should endeavor to give the child the right slant on life. It is the period when characters are shaped.

What better influence could be desired than that of religion? A knowledge of God, the influence and associations of the Church, the thoughts of great teachers—these are the foundations of character that will stand any test.

A dull, drab suntan's departure can be speeded by skillful massage with a good lubricant!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

This is the time when complaints a-plenty come in from charmers who took the sun this summer with abandon. "My suntan has a blackish hue," complains one letter. "All my summers have been spent under the sun," states another, "but this year my suntan spotted. I'm a sight."

Well, it took some time to acquire your sunned skin tone and there is no way to rid yourself of it immediately. But by aiding the circulation of the skin, you step up its nutrition and help it renew itself as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Use Lightest Touch

This is accomplished by the gentlest massage, delicately performed, using a cream to lubricate the skin. If you devote ten minutes each morning and another ten each evening to the following routine, you'll see improvement in record time:

1. Start with an immaculately clean skin. Then slather it with lubricant.

2. Place your elbows on your dressing table so your fingers will be light as a feather while they work on your face. Bring wrists together so hands cup your chin.

3. To counteract the tendency of muscles to sag, let all finger motion be upward. Start at the base of your chin: work outward toward your ears, lightly stroking with the index finger of each hand. Gradually work upward until your entire cheeks are covered.

4. Lightly trace small circles, not over one-half inch in diameter, around your lips to counteract expression and "laugh" lines.

Finishing Strokes

5. Place the thumb of your right hand at the top of your upper lip and the index finger at the left corner, and massage from the corner to the upper center. Then, using your left hand, massage the right side of your mouth in the same fashion.

6. Close your eyes and using two fingers, lightly oil the upper lids with a stroke from your nose to the outer edge and then under the eye in the same manner. Take exquisite care not to stretch or push the skin! These strokes must be only a feather touch.

7. Now describe small circles over the area where "crow's-feet" form at the temples.

8. Next, stroke from the lower end of your nose up through area where scowl lines form and over across your brows. Finish with small circles, working upward over your forehead.

But, keep all strokes light! Heavy-handed massage is worse than none at all!

A dull, drab suntan's departure can be speeded by skillful massage with a good lubricant!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

This is the time when complaints a-plenty come in from charmers who took the sun this summer with abandon. "My suntan has a blackish hue," complains one letter. "All my summers have been spent under the sun," states another, "but this year my suntan spotted. I'm a sight."

Well, it took some time to acquire your sunned skin tone and there is no way to rid yourself of it immediately. But by aiding the circulation of the skin, you step up its nutrition and help it renew itself as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Use Lightest Touch

This is accomplished by the gentlest massage, delicately performed, using a cream to lubricate the skin. If you devote ten minutes each morning and another ten each evening to the following routine, you'll see improvement in record time:

1. Start with an immaculately clean skin. Then slather it with lubricant.

2. Place your elbows on your dressing table so your fingers will be light as a feather while they work on your face. Bring wrists together so hands cup your chin.

3. To counteract the tendency of muscles to sag, let all finger motion be upward. Start at the base of your chin: work outward toward your ears, lightly stroking with the index finger of each hand. Gradually work upward until your entire cheeks are covered.

4. Lightly trace small circles, not over one-half inch in diameter, around your lips to counteract expression and "laugh" lines.

Finishing Strokes

5. Place the thumb of your right hand at the top of your upper lip and the index finger at the left corner, and massage from the corner to the upper center. Then, using your left hand, massage the right side of your mouth in the same fashion.

6. Close your eyes and using two fingers, lightly oil the upper lids with a stroke from your nose to the outer edge and then under the eye in the same manner. Take exquisite care not to stretch or push the skin! These strokes must be only a feather touch.

7. Now describe small circles over the area where "crow's-feet" form at the temples.

8. Next, stroke from the lower end of your nose up through area where scowl lines form and over across your brows. Finish with small circles, working upward over your forehead.

But, keep all strokes light! Heavy-handed massage is worse than none at all!

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

A brilliant 38-yard run for a touchdown midway in the second period by Quarterback Denny Shuck sparked the LaSalle Explorers to a thrilling 19-6 victory over the previously unbeaten Keyser High Golden Tornado.

A disappointing crowd of about 2,000 saw Coach Norman Geatz' light but fast eleven smack over a bigger but much slower team from the Mineral County school.

Shuck's touchdown run in the second stanza came with startling suddenness after the two teams had battled evenly through most of the first half.

Pass Is Intercepted

Following a pass interception by Ronald Lennox which gave LaSalle the ball on its own 42, the Explorers moved to the Keyser 38 in four running plays. There Shuck faked beautifully, cut over tackle and ran almost unmolested to the goal. Edgar Kegg added the point from placement and Keyser trailed 7-0.

Then almost before the crowd had settled back from the score, a Keyser fumble was recovered by Joe Conroy and Jim Williams on the LaSalle 40. Shuck passed nine yards to Phil Geatz and Bobby Christ and Ken Lowery toted the ball with driving power to the Keyser 24. Christ then smacked off tackle for 20 yards, being stopped on the 4 when the ball was pulled from his arms, but the alert Explorer back fell on the fumble to recover and set up LaSalle's second first half score. Christ then pounded over from the one two plays later.

A fourth quarter score added to LaSalle's margin when the Explorer drive was sparked by the hard-running Fullback Harold Hudson. Hudson picked up 16 and 10 yards on two plays, then smashed over from the eight for the final Explorer six-pointer.

Keyser Streak Snapped

Keyser, unbeaten in six straight games, including four last year, started off as if to make LaSalle its third straight victim this season. Taking the ball on the opening kickoff the Tornado punished the LaSalle forward wall with hard-running backs to move to the LaSalle 19 in 18 plays, picking up five first downs.

Two cracks at the line netted three yards and then Tom Karras fumbled for a two yard loss. On fourth down Scott Ward passed to Ernie Courrier for eight yards but the Explorers took over on downs on their own 10 when the play missed being a first by inches.

That one spurt was all Keyser could muster in the way of an offensive until Ward again hit Courrier via the air lanes for a 46-yard pass and run play for the Tornado's lone touchdown. It came with 1:12 remaining in the game against LaSalle's third string eleven.

LaSalle's backfield gave a good accounting of itself, Christ picking up 83 yards in 16 carries, an average of 5.2 yards per try, Shuck made 58 in six for 9.6, Hudson 38 in 7 for 5.4, and Lowery 25 in 8 carries for a 3-1 average.

Raines Is Tossed Out

Courrier and Jim Webb were Keyser's offensive threats the former gaining 44 yards and the latter 42 on the ground. Courrier also caught two passes for 49 yards and Webb one for 29.

Defensive standouts for LaSalle were Geatz, Christ, Lennox, Leo Franklin and Hudson. For Keyser, Roland Raines, Courrier, Jack Wilson and Gary Athey were the best. Raines was thrown out of the game in the fourth stanza for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Until midway in the second period the stadium was partially darkened by the failure of two of the six light standards which illuminate the field. The power failure was fixed and the game continued until midway in the final stanza when the lights again failed. However the remaining lights were enough for the game to be completed. The score:

Parsons Scores First Victory Over Kingwood

Fairbanks Makes Two Scores In 26-7 Win

PARSONS, W. Va., Sept. 25 — Parsons High School's Panthers crashed the win column today by defeating Kingwood High School's Stags at Kingwood by the score of 26-7.

Terry Fairbanks made two of the touchdowns while the others were credited to Delton Mullenax and Rosenau. Mullenax and Bundy scored the extra points.

A blocked punt and recovery on the 15-yard line set up the Kingwood score in the opening period. After Parsons had been penalized to the 10, Zinn fumbled while carrying the ball and Crawford fell on it in the end zone for the initial score. Zinn made the conversion on an end run.

Parsons drove 60 yards for its first touchdown in the second period with Fairbanks toting the leather over from the one. Coach Bob Sullivan's team forged ahead at 12-7 in the third quarter when Fairbanks scored on a 29-yard reserve play to cap a 50-yard march.

Early in the final quarter Fairbanks lateraled to Mullenax for a gain of 38 yards and Rosenau went over from the one for the TD. Mullenax plunged for the point. Mullenax made the final six-pointer on an inside tackle play from the two and his pass to Bundy netted the point.

Parsons rolled up 11 first downs to two for Kingwood, gained 22 yards on three of eight passes tried and amassed 256 yards rushing. Kingwood collected four first downs, made only seven yards on two passes in five tries and advanced the ball only 68 yards overland.

Mrs. Glick Bows To Mary Downey In Title Match

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP) — Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore Country Club played brilliant golf most of the way today to defeat Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore's Woodholme Club 3 and 1 for the Maryland Women's golf championship at Columbia Country Club.

It was the second state title for the young Baltimore golfer. She defeated Mrs. Glick in the 1949 final but lost to her last year in the title round. Mrs. Glick is a seven-time champion.

When the match ended on the 17th hole Miss Downey was only 5 over men's par and would have needed a four on the 18th for a 75.

Mrs. Glick won the first hole when Miss Downey was trapped but the new champion knocked in a 25-foot putt for a birdie to square the match on the second.

Miss Downey went one up when Mrs. Glick three putted the fourth and two up on the seventh when the winner came out of a trap within 18 inches of the cup and Mrs. Glick took three shots from the edge of the green. They halved eight and nine which left Miss Downey two up at the turn with an out nine of 39.

They halved the next three holes and Miss Downey went three up on the 13th when her opponent three putted. They halved the next two. Mrs. Glick kept the match alive by dropping a birdie two on the 16th hole with a 6-foot putt. It was all over on the 17th when Miss Downey played a magnificent approach shot from a side of a bank to within 10 inches of the hole for a conceded birdie three.

As You Were

Eighteen years ago this fellow was very much in the scholastic sports spotlight.

Pennsylvania Avenue High School teams, coached by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, enjoyed their greatest season by winning basketball, baseball and football chamionships and the athlete pictured here was a member of all three squads.

The 1934-35 basketball squad on which he played won county honors and then whipped Oakland 77-6, Middletown 36-21, Mt. Ranier 53-17 and Crisfield 51-22 to annex the state title. The South Enders wound up the campaign with a 26-4 record.

In June 1935 he pitched Penn to the city baseball title. In the final game of the season he beat Lefty Bob Smith, 10-5, to dethrone Allegany High after the latter had won six consecutive city championships. Thus, he squared accounts with AHS, which beat him in the final game of 1934 by the score of 5-3. Alton Nave was the victor in that contest and it was the 11th win for an undefeated AHS nine.

Roy Whiteman of Penn was the city batting champion in 1935 with an average of .435 and two of his teammates, Willard "Buddy" Henderson and Jim Lepley finished second and third. Coach Cavanaugh's aggregation closed with a 10-4 record and this righthander won eight, lost one and struck out 74 batsmen.

In 1934 and 1935 he was selected as an all-city back in football. Penn racked up 10 wins, lost three and tied two during those two seasons.

Perhaps his crowning achievement during his high school career was the brilliant performance he gave in the Thanksgiving Day football game of 1935 which was staged before 3,000 persons at Community Park. Penn beat LaSalle, 24-0, earlier in the campaign and in the Turkey Day game downed Allegany by the score of 20-6.

In the championship tilt John Topper, who is now in the golfing spotlight at the Cumberland Country Club, galloped 52 yards to give AHS an early lead. Before the half ended, however, this player's 13-yard pass to Charley (Kayo) Butts set up the Penn score that was made by Ed Bratt. In the second half this star's bruising attack and punting turned the tide of battle in Penn's favor. He averaged 51 yards on his punts, gained 61 yards rushing, scored two touchdowns and kicked two extra points and that was the old ball game. The other backs on the Penn team were "Buddy" Henderson, Butts, Bratt and Bob Seibert. Barnard, Jordano, Topper and Boor were in the AHS backfield. Penn won seven, lost one and tied one for its best year on the gridiron.

It was during the 1935 grid season that this ace set a city scoring record of 114 points on 18 touchdowns and six conversions. This mark stood for nine years until Donald "Bubbles" Whiteman of Fort Hill broke it in 1944 when he scored 125 The record is now held by Earl "Lefty" Bruce, of Allegany, who registered 138 on 23 touchdowns in 48.

During this player's three years of football at Penn Avenue (1933, 1934, 1935) he scored a grand total of 156 points and this could be a record. He got nine in 1933, 33 in 1934 and 114 in in 1935.

This lad also engaged in soccer and track at Penn Avenue, making him a participant in five sports. After being graduated from high school he pitched sandlot ball.

Can you name this all-around athlete who played on the last football (1935) and baseball (1936) teams to represent Penn Avenue High School?

He is Dell A. Keller, of 24 Blackiston Avenue, now a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad machinist.

Bobcats Battle Towson Club To Scoreless Tie

Goalies Are Credited With Making 10 Saves

FROSTBURG, Sept. 25—Frostburg State Teachers College opened its soccer campaign today by battling the Towson State Teachers to a scoreless tie at Towson, Md.

Goalies Enordo Arnone of Frostburg and Livingston of Towson made five saves each, Frostburg had three corner kicks to the home team's two and the Bobcats had eight shots at the goal to seven for the Baltimore Countians.

NCAA Turns Down Request For Special Grid Telecast

Committee Challenges Showdown On Policies

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) challenged a showdown on its football television policies today by turning down a request for special telecasting of tomorrow's Notre Dame-Oklahoma game.

The action was taken over the clamors of high Oklahoma officials that the game be carried throughout the state and despite an announcement that the U. S. Justice Department was stepping into the controversy.

The Justice Department said yesterday it was intervening in the case through its Anti-Trust Division but declined to specify the action being taken. The NCAA, meanwhile, remained mum on this phase of it.

Asa Bushnell, director of the NCAA television program, said the 12-man TV committee had rejected a request that station KOTV in Tulsa be permitted to televise the game along with WKY-TV in Oklahoma City.

The Oklahoma City station had been granted this special privilege under an NCAA provision which permits local telecasting of a contest which is a sellout.

Rules of the NCAA restricted program call for one major game to be carried on network each week, with no team to appear on the schedule more than once during a season.

This week's nationally televised game under the NCAA program is that between Holy Cross and Dartmouth at Lynn, Mass.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

A brilliant 38-yard run for a touchdown midway in the second period by Quarterback Denny Shuck sparked the LaSalle Explorers to a thrilling 19-6 victory over the previously unbeaten Keyser High Golden Tornado.

A disappointing crowd of about 2,000 saw Coach Norman Geatz' light but fast eleven smack over a bigger but much slower team from the Mineral County school.

Shuck's touchdown run in the second stanza came with startling suddenness after the two teams had battled evenly through most of the first half.

Pass Is Intercepted

Following a pass interception by Ronald Lennox which gave LaSalle the ball on its own 42, the Explorers moved to the Keyser 38 in four running plays. There Shuck faked beautifully, cut over tackle and ran almost unmolested to the goal. Edgar Kegg added the point from placement and Keyser trailed 7-0.

Then almost before the crowd had settled back from the score, a Keyser fumble was recovered by Joe Conroy and Jim Williams on the LaSalle 40. Shuck passed nine yards to Phil Geatz and Bobby Christ and Ken Lowery toted the ball with driving power to the Keyser 24. Christ then smacked off tackle for 20 yards, being stopped on the 4 when the ball was pulled from his arms, but the alert Explorer back fell on the fumble to recover and set up LaSalle's second first half score. Christ then pounded over from the one two plays later.

A fourth quarter score added to LaSalle's margin when the Explorer drive was sparked by the hard-running Fullback Harold Hudson. Hudson picked up 16 and 10 yards on two plays, then smashed over from the eight for the final Explorer six-pointer.

Keyser Streak Snapped

Keyser, unbeaten in six straight games, including four last year, started off as if to make LaSalle its third straight victim this season. Taking the ball on the opening kickoff the Tornado punished the LaSalle forward wall with hard-running backs to move to the LaSalle 19 in 18 plays, picking up five first downs.

Two cracks at the line netted three yards and then Tom Karras fumbled for a two yard loss. On fourth down Scott Ward passed to Ernie Courrier for eight yards but the Explorers took over on downs on their own 10 when the play missed being a first by inches.

That one spurt was all Keyser could muster in the way of an offensive until Ward again hit Courrier via the air lanes for a 46-yard pass and run play for the Tornado's lone touchdown. It came with 1:12 remaining in the game against LaSalle's third string eleven.

LaSalle's backfield gave a good accounting of itself, Christ picking up 83 yards in 16 carries, an average of 5.2 yards per try, Shuck made 58 in six for 9.6, Hudson 38 in 7 for 5.4, and Lowery 25 in 8 carries for a 3-1 average.

Raines Is Tossed Out

Courrier and Jim Webb were Keyser's offensive threats the former gaining 44 yards and the latter 42 on the ground. Courrier also caught two passes for 49 yards and Webb one for 29.

Defensive standouts for LaSalle were Geatz, Christ, Lennox, Leo Franklin and Hudson. For Keyser, Roland Raines, Courrier, Jack Wilson and Gary Athey were the best. Raines was thrown out of the game in the fourth stanza for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Until midway in the second period the stadium was partially darkened by the failure of two of the six light standards which illuminate the field. The power failure was fixed and the game continued until midway in the final stanza when the lights again failed. However the remaining lights were enough for the game to be completed. The score:

Fairbanks Makes Two Scores In 26-7 Win

PARSONS, W. Va., Sept. 25 — Parsons High School's Panthers crashed the win column today by defeating Kingwood High School's Stags at Kingwood by the score of 26-7.

Terry Fairbanks made two of the touchdowns while the others were credited to Delton Mullenax and Rosenau. Mullenax and Bundy scored the extra points.

A blocked punt and recovery on the 15-yard line set up the Kingwood score in the opening period. After Parsons had been penalized to the 10, Zinn fumbled while carrying the ball and Crawford fell on it in the end zone for the initial score. Zinn made the conversion on an end run.

Parsons drove 60 yards for its first touchdown in the second period with Fairbanks toting the leather over from the one. Coach Bob Sullivan's team forged ahead at 12-7 in the third quarter when Fairbanks scored on a 29-yard reserve play to cap a 50-yard march.

Early in the final quarter Fairbanks lateraled to Mullenax for a gain of 38 yards and Rosenau went over from the one for the TD. Mullenax plunged for the point. Mullenax made the final six-pointer on an inside tackle play from the two and his pass to Bundy netted the point.

Parsons rolled up 11 first downs to two for Kingwood, gained 22 yards on three of eight passes tried and amassed 256 yards rushing. Kingwood collected four first downs, made only seven yards on two passes in five tries and advanced the ball only 68 yards overland.

Mrs. Glick Bows To Mary Downey In Title Match

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP) — Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore Country Club played brilliant golf most of the way today to defeat Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore's Woodholme Club 3 and 1 for the Maryland Women's golf championship at Columbia Country Club.

It was the second state title for the young Baltimore golfer. She defeated Mrs. Glick in the 1949 final but lost to her last year in the title round. Mrs. Glick is a seven-time champion.

When the match ended on the 17th hole Miss Downey was only 5 over men's par and would have needed a four on the 18th for a 75.

Mrs. Glick won the first hole when Miss Downey was trapped but the new champion knocked in a 25-foot putt for a birdie to square the match on the second.

Miss Downey went one up when Mrs. Glick three putted the fourth and two up on the seventh when the winner came out of a trap within 18 inches of the cup and Mrs. Glick took three shots from the edge of the green. They halved eight and nine which left Miss Downey two up at the turn with an out nine of 39.

They halved the next three holes and Miss Downey went three up on the 13th when her opponent three putted. They halved the next two. Mrs. Glick kept the match alive by dropping a birdie two on the 16th hole with a 6-foot putt. It was all over on the 17th when Miss Downey played a magnificent approach shot from a side of a bank to within 10 inches of the hole for a conceded birdie three.

As You Were

Eighteen years ago this fellow was very much in the scholastic sports spotlight.

Pennsylvania Avenue High School teams, coached by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, enjoyed their greatest season by winning basketball, baseball and football chamionships and the athlete pictured here was a member of all three squads.

The 1934-35 basketball squad on which he played won county honors and then whipped Oakland 77-6, Middletown 36-21, Mt. Ranier 53-17 and Crisfield 51-22 to annex the state title. The South Enders wound up the campaign with a 26-4 record.

In June 1935 he pitched Penn to the city baseball title. In the final game of the season he beat Lefty Bob Smith, 10-5, to dethrone Allegany High after the latter had won six consecutive city championships. Thus, he squared accounts with AHS, which beat him in the final game of 1934 by the score of 5-3. Alton Nave was the victor in that contest and it was the 11th win for an undefeated AHS nine.

Roy Whiteman of Penn was the city batting champion in 1935 with an average of .435 and two of his teammates, Willard "Buddy" Henderson and Jim Lepley finished second and third. Coach Cavanaugh's aggregation closed with a 10-4 record and this righthander won eight, lost one and struck out 74 batsmen.

In 1934 and 1935 he was selected as an all-city back in football. Penn racked up 10 wins, lost three and tied two during those two seasons.

Perhaps his crowning achievement during his high school career was the brilliant performance he gave in the Thanksgiving Day football game of 1935 which was staged before 3,000 persons at Community Park. Penn beat LaSalle, 24-0, earlier in the campaign and in the Turkey Day game downed Allegany by the score of 20-6.

In the championship tilt John Topper, who is now in the golfing spotlight at the Cumberland Country Club, galloped 52 yards to give AHS an early lead. Before the half ended, however, this player's 13-yard pass to Charley (Kayo) Butts set up the Penn score that was made by Ed Bratt. In the second half this star's bruising attack and punting turned the tide of battle in Penn's favor. He averaged 51 yards on his punts, gained 61 yards rushing, scored two touchdowns and kicked two extra points and that was the old ball game. The other backs on the Penn team were "Buddy" Henderson, Butts, Bratt and Bob Seibert. Barnard, Jordano, Topper and Boor were in the AHS backfield. Penn won seven, lost one and tied one for its best year on the gridiron.

It was during the 1935 grid season that this ace set a city scoring record of 114 points on 18 touchdowns and six conversions. This mark stood for nine years until Donald "Bubbles" Whiteman of Fort Hill broke it in 1944 when he scored 125 The record is now held by Earl "Lefty" Bruce, of Allegany, who registered 138 on 23 touchdowns in 48.

During this player's three years of football at Penn Avenue (1933, 1934, 1935) he scored a grand total of 156 points and this could be a record. He got nine in 1933, 33 in 1934 and 114 in in 1935.

This lad also engaged in soccer and track at Penn Avenue, making him a participant in five sports. After being graduated from high school he pitched sandlot ball.

Can you name this all-around athlete who played on the last football (1935) and baseball (1936) teams to represent Penn Avenue High School?

NCAA Turns Down Request For Special Grid Telecast

Committee Challenges Showdown On Policies

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) challenged a showdown on its football television policies today by turning down a request for special telecasting of tomorrow's Notre Dame-Oklahoma game.

The action was taken over the clamors of high Oklahoma officials that the game be carried throughout the state and despite an announcement that the U. S. Justice Department was stepping into the controversy.

The Justice Department said yesterday it was intervening in the case through its Anti-Trust Division but declined to specify the action being taken. The NCAA, meanwhile, remained mum on this phase of it.

Asa Bushnell, director of the NCAA television program, said the 12-man TV committee had rejected a request that station KO-TV in Tulsa be permitted to televise the game along with WKY-TV in Oklahoma City.

The Oklahoma City station had been granted this special privilege under an NCAA provision which permits local telecasting of a contest which is a sellout.

Rules of the NCAA restricted program call for one major game to be carried on network each week, with no team to appear on the schedule more than once during a season.

This week's nationally televised game under the NCAA program is that between Holy Cross and Dartmouth at Lynn, Mass.

The average human body contains about 100,000 miles of blood vessels.

Beall Hosts Allegany Gridders In 21st Contest Today

Reiber, Weller Named Co-Captains By AHS; Game Set For 2 P. M.

The twenty-first meeting of Beall High School and Allegany High School on the gridiron since 1909 is set for today at 2 p. m. at Beall High School Field, Frostburg.

It will be Beall's first game of the 1953 season at home and a large turnout is expected.

Beall dropped a 14-0 decision to Keyser last week on the West Virginians' Field.

Today's contest is the first of six at Frostburg for Coach Ray Hull's Mountaineers. Other home attractions are Romney, Charles Town, Ridgeley, the Alumni and LaSalle.

Allegany launched its schedule last week and lost a hard fought game to Patterson Park High's Clippers of Baltimore, 12-6.

Bob Reiber and Lee Weller, ends, have been named Allegany's co-captains for today's contest. Weller may start at left end in place of Vernon Lowery who has been suffering with a shoulder injury.

In the 20 games played to date, the series between Beall and Allegany stands even-Stephen, each schools having won eight games while four ties were played. The Campers have won six straight from the Mountaineers since the revival of the sport at the Frostburg school seven years ago.

Notre Dame Is One Touchdown Favorite Today

Irish Play Oklahoma In Standout Contest

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The football madness gripping the Oklahoma Plains reaches its climax tomorrow when Notre Dame and the Sooners trot onto the Norman gridiron for this week's standout college game.

While the nation's attention is drawn to this clash Michigan State, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Pennsylvania and Tennessee face strong challenges from upset-minded opponents.

Behind sorrowful progress reports, Notre Dame's Frank Leahy and Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson have been putting a keen edge on the teams ranked first and sixth in the Associated Press pre-season poll.

The Irish are a one touchdown favorites.

Iowa has its sights set on spoiling Michigan State's Big Ten conference debut and 24-game winning streak while Florida is aiming at Georgia Tech's record of 27 defeatless contests.

Mississippi State and Jackie Parker give Tennessee plenty to worry about in the Volunteer opener while another split-T quarterback, Vanderbilt's Bill Krietemeyer, is the chief concern of Penn as the Quakers launch into an awesome schedule.

Veteran Frank Miller and newcomer Frank Krol are Dartmouth's hopes of counteracting Holy Cross' fast-stepping backs in the NCAA television game.

Alabama will try to get back on the winning trail against Louisiana State while Georgia meets Tulane and Kentucky tangles with Mississippi in Southeast Conference contests.

Atlantic Coast loop co-favorites Maryland and Duke draw Washington and Lee and Wake Forest, respectively, in second games for both. North Carolina gives its first performance against North Carolina State.

Eastern powers Navy and Pitt draw testing assignments in William and Mary and West Virginia. Army-Furman, Princeton-Lafayette, Boston College-Clemson Cornell-Colgate are also on the program.

Marciano May Fight Ezzard Charles Next

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Rocky Marciano, towering over the heavyweight field, may defend his title next against Ezzard Charles, Feb. 22, at San Francisco if the ex-champ can avenge a defeat by Harold Johnson.

Charles, bypassed to give Roland LaStarza his chance, was tentatively set for a rematch with Johnson Nov. 4, but Johnson will not be ready then due to an ear infection. They are working on a new date for the bout with San Francisco as the proposed site.

Marciano was unscarred after last night's 11th round technical knockout victory. His immediate plans call for watching the World Series in which he is picking Brooklyn.

Dodgers Win, 4-3

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25 (AP) — Dave Williams' long flyout in the eighth inning after Roy Campanella doubled, broke a stalemate tonight and gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Memorial Park, Westernport, will be the scene of action today and Sunday as Westvaco plays host to the Cumberland Old Germans iin the second and third games of their best-of-five final playoff series in the Bi-State Baseball League. A sweep of both games by Westvaco would wind-up the 1953 campaign in the six-club circuit. Both contests are set for 2:30 p.m.

Westvaco got the jump in the series by winning last Sunday to the tune of 4-2 with Hubert Nicol gaining the nod over George Geatz. It was the 10th meeting of the teams this season and Westvaco's sixth victory against four losses.

Bobby Raines (15-2) who has beaten the Old Germans five times while losing once this season is figured to pitch one of the games for Westvaco. Hubert Nicol (6-3) or Augie Eichhorn (4-1) will work on the peak for the Papermakers in the other.

GRID THRILLS

By GIB DAWSON
Halfback, Green Bay Packers

GIB DAWSON
Texan At Green Bay

It's rather difficult to pick out my biggest thrill in college football. Being a member of the powerful Texas University teams in 1950 through 1952 would be close to the top. We had some wonderful athletes such as Bud McFadin, Bobby Dillon, Tom Stolhandske, Harley Sewell and Randy Clay. They all were important factors in our playing in the 1951 and 1953 Cotton Bowl games.

In 1952 I had my best day in football. I scored four touchdowns and kicked six extra points to lead Texas to a victory over Arkansas.

Another big thrill was kicking five extra points as we beat Baylor 35-33 last year. That game gave us the Southwest Conference title.

A day I'll never forget as long as I live was the game we played against Oklahoma in 1951. My father had passed away the day of the game and the boys on the team dedicated the hard-fought 9-7 victory over the powerful Sooners to me.

Perhaps the greatest thrill was being chosen the Most Valuable Player in the 1953 College All-Star game. There were many boys on the squad with All-America reputations and many who were more widely known than I. Although I made the All-Southwest Conference team the last two years I was known little outside of my own section of the country.

The game was a thrilling one for me. I started at left halfback, scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and was the game's leading ground gainer.

Yes, I believe that being a member of the All-Star squad composed of the country's finest players is my greatest thrill.

Colt Backs Hurt For Sunday Opener

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts will open the National Football League Sunday against the Chicago Bears without two of its first string backs, Buddy Young and Zollie Toth.

Both were hurt in last Sunday's exhibition game with the Washington Redskins and were declared out today by Coach Keith Molesworth.

Wheeling Meet Ends

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 25—Wheeling Downs rings down the curtain Saturday on a 61-day summer meeting with an eight-race program highlighted by the $10,000 William G. Lias Handicap, richest stake in the 73-year history of the Downs.

Marciano To Get $186,992 For Win

Challenger Receives $76,997 From Bout

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano received $186,992.82 for stopping Roland LaStarza in the 11th round of their 15-round title fight at the Polo Grounds last night.

LaStarza's share was $76,997.04 counting television monies.

In addition, Marciano will get 42½ per cent and LaStarza 17½ percent of the movie receipts.

The International Boxing Club announced final figures for the fight today:

Hull's Eleven To Make 1953 Debut At Home

Reiber, Weller Named Co-Captains By AHS; Game Set For 2 P. M.

The twenty-first meeting of Beall High School and Allegany High School on the gridiron since 1909 is set for today at 2 p. m. at Beall High School Field, Frostburg.

It will be Beall's first game of the 1953 season at home and a large turnout is expected.

Beall dropped a 14-0 decision to Keyser last week on the West Virginians' Field.

Today's contest is the first of six at Frostburg for Coach Ray Hull's Mountaineers. Other home attractions are Romney, Charles Town, Ridgeley, the Alumni and LaSalle.

Allegany launched its schedule last week and lost a hard fought game to Patterson Park High's Clippers of Baltimore, 12-6.

Bob Reiber and Lee Weller, ends, have been named Allegany's co-captains for today's contest. Weller may start at left end in place of Vernon Lowery who has been suffering with a shoulder injury.

In the 20 games played to date, the series between Beall and Allegany stands even-Stephen, each schools having won eight games while four ties were played. The Campers have won six straight from the Mountaineers since the revival of the sport at the Frostburg school seven years ago.

Notre Dame Is One Touchdown Favorite Today

Irish Play Oklahoma In Standout Contest

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The football madness gripping the Oklahoma Plains reaches its climax tomorrow when Notre Dame and the Sooners trot onto the Norman gridiron for this week's standout college game.

While the nation's attention is drawn to this clash Michigan State, Georgia Tech, Southern California, Pennsylvania and Tennessee face strong challenges from upset-minded opponents.

Behind sorrowful progress reports, Notre Dame's Frank Leahy and Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson have been putting a keen edge on the teams ranked first and sixth in the Associated Press pre-season poll.

The Irish are a one touchdown favorites.

Iowa has its sights set on spoiling Michigan State's Big Ten conference debut and 24-game winning streak while Florida is aiming at Georgia Tech's record of 27 defeatless contests.

Southern California, after an impressive start last week, is relying on superior line strength to repulse the invasion of Minnesota.

Mississippi State and Jackie Parker give Tennessee plenty to worry about in the Volunteer opener while another split-T quarterback, Vanderbilt's Bill Krietemeyer, is the chief concern of Penn as the Quakers launch into an awesome schedule.

Defending co-champions Purdue and Wisconsin meet Missouri and Penn state, respectively, in major intersectional matches. Michigan goes against Washington. Northwestern takes on Iowa State.

Veteran Frank Miller and newcomer Frank Krol are Dartmouth's hopes of counteracting Holy Cross' fast-stepping backs in the NCAA television game.

Alabama will try to get back on the winning trail against Louisiana State while Georgia meets Tulane and Kentucky tangles with Mississippi in Southeast Conference contests.

Atlantic Coast loop co-favorites Maryland and Duke draw Washington and Lee and Wake Forest, respectively, in second games for both. North Carolina gives its first performance against North Carolina State.

Eastern powers Navy and Pitt draw testing assignments in William and Mary and West Virginia. Army-Furman, Princeton-Lafayette, Boston College-Clemson Cornell-Colgate are also on the program.

Marciano May Fight Ezzard Charles Next

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Rocky Marciano, towering over the heavyweight field, may defend his title next against Ezzard Charles, Feb. 22, at San Francisco if the ex-champ can avenge a defeat by Harold Johnson.

Charles, bypassed to give Roland LaStarza his chance, was tentatively set for a rematch with Johnson Nov. 4, but Johnson will not be ready then due to an ear infection. They are working on a new date for the bout with San Francisco as the proposed site.

Marciano was unscarred after last night's 11th round technical knockout victory. His immediate plans call for watching the World Series in which he is picking Brooklyn.

Dodgers Win, 4-3

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25 (AP) — Dave Williams' long flyout in the eighth inning after Roy Campanella doubled, broke a stalemate tonight and gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Westvaco Seeks 3-Game Sweep In Bi-State Series

Four Leagues Stage Playoffs On Sunday

Memorial Park, Westernport, will be the scene of action today and Sunday as Westvaco plays host to the Cumberland Old Germans iin the second and third games of their best-of-five final playoff series in the Bi-State Baseball League. A sweep of both games by Westvaco would wind-up the 1953 campaign in the six-club circuit. Both contests are set for 2:30 p.m.

Westvaco got the jump in the series by winning last Sunday to the tune of 4-2 with Hubert Nicol gaining the nod over George Geatz. It was the 10th meeting of the teams this season and Westvaco's sixth victory against four losses.

Raines Seeks 16th Win

Bobby Raines (15-2) who has beaten the Old Germans five times while losing once this season is figured to pitch one of the games for Westvaco. Hubert Nicol (6-3) or Augie Eichhorn (4-1) will work on the peak for the Papermakers in the other.

Jack Kauffman (9-0), Norman Geatz (9-2) Ronnie Sisk (6-3) and George Geatz (3-3) will be the Old Germans' pitchers available for duty.

An even break would extend the series to a fifth game which would be staged here next weekend.

Bucks Could Wrap It Up

Keyser Ridge could wrap up the Penn-Mar playoff series by winning tomorrow's game at Wellersburg. The Bucks copped the opener of the three-game set last Sunday by the score of 14-7. Keyser Ridge won the league pennant and in the playoff semi-finals eliminated Barrelville. Wellersburg kayoed Meyersdale in the opening playoff series. Tomorrow's game at Wellersburg is set for 2:30.

Terra Alta and Loch Lynn tangle Sunday at Loch Lynn (2:30) in the opening game of a three-game series for the championship of the Mountain Top Baseball League. Bob or Joe Fraley will be on the firing line for the Preston countians while Bob Glaze will serve up the benders for the Garrett County nine.

Romney Hosts Franklin

At Romney, the Rockets will play hosts to the Franklin Free Staters in the second game of their best-of-three final playoff series in the South Branch Baseball League. Franklin bagged the opener, 9-6. Lefty Bob Pope of Franklin is slated to oppose Allen Kenny. Game time is 2 p.m.

The Romney management last night announced definitely that the game will be played there Sunday. The third and deciding game, if necessary, will be staged Sunday, Oct. 4 on the field of the team with the highest paid attendance for the first two games.

GRID THRILLS

By GIB DAWSON
Halfback, Green Bay Packers

GIB DAWSON
Texan At Green Bay

It's rather difficult to pick out my biggest thrill in college football. Being a member of the powerful Texas University teams in 1950 through 1952 would be close to the top. We had some wonderful athletes such as Bud McFadin, Bobby Dillon, Tom Stolhandske, Harley Sewell and Randy Clay. They all were important factors in our playing in the 1951 and 1953 Cotton Bowl games.

In 1952 I had my best day in football. I scored four touchdowns and kicked six extra points to lead Texas to a victory over Arkansas.

Another big thrill was kicking five extra points as we beat Baylor 35-33 last year. That game gave us the Southwest Conference title.

A day I'll never forget as long as I live was the game we played against Oklahoma in 1951. My father had passed away the day of the game and the boys on the team dedicated the hard-fought 9-7 victory over the powerful Sooners to me.

Perhaps the greatest thrill was being chosen the Most Valuable Player in the 1953 College All-Star game. There were many boys on the squad with All-America reputations and many who were more widely known than I. Although I made the All-Southwest Conference team the last two years I was known little outside of my own section of the country.

The game was a thrilling one for me. I started at left halfback, scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and was the game's leading ground gainer.

Yes, I believe that being a member of the All-Star squad composed of the country's finest players is my greatest thrill.

Colt Backs Hurt For Sunday Opener

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts will open the National Football League Sunday against the Chicago Bears without two of its first string backs, Buddy Young and Zollie Toth.

Both were hurt in last Sunday's exhibition game with the Washington Redskins and were declared out today by Coach Keith Molesworth.

Maple Festival Plans Start

Somerset Residents Answer Questions On Annual Event

The leaves of Somerset County sugar maple trees are turning to bright shades of orange, red and yellow, and with their turning, plans are being formulated for the annual Somerset County Maple Festival, April 2-4, 1954.

While thousands of people from far and near are expected to tour the county sightseeing this fall, Meyersdale area citizens will be busy planning the most elaborate festival in its history.

Herman E. Basehore is general chairman for the celebration, and Henry J. Beamer is finance committee chairman and treasurer. Both have been active in community affairs for years.

In an effort to determine what people like and dislike about the Maple Festival, a questionnaire was prepared under the direction of Basehore, and mailed to educators, farmers-producers, professional people, businessmen and women, housewives, etc.

Here are some of the results:

Fifty-nine percent of the people queried said they preferred to have the festival held during the maple season, while 33 percent said they preferred the celebration after the maple season because of weather conditions.

Time for the annual parade indicated 53 percent like the evening better, while 40 percent chose the afternoon.

The historical pageant with chorus received 64 percent approval while the variety show type of entertainment was preferred by 22 percent.

Eighty-five percent favor tours to area sugar camps, and 90 percent hope that arrangements can be made to demonstrate the making of maple sugar products in the community during the Maple Festival.

As for a place to hold the Maple Queen Contest, 59 percent replied they preferred the Cambria County War Memorial at Johnstown, to 32 percent who said they thought the county high school auditorium would be satisfactory.

Practically 90 percent of those queried said the community should have special decorations for the three-day celebration. The length of the festivities was very controversial, with 40 percent saying it should be a three-day affair, 39 percent a two-day event, with 21 percent indicating different amounts of time.

Basehore declared the results of the survey will be very helpful in determining and planning a program for the 1954 festival. Preliminary plans were outlined to the Somerset County Principals Association at its meeting last Wednesday in Somerset. President-elect James M. Cassel of Berlin, appointed a committee headed by E. H. Stuempfle of Meyersdale, David Lichliter of Forbes, and R. M. Swartzwelder of Shade-Central City, to work with the Maple Festival committees in conducting and staging the Maple Queen Contest as well as the Maple Festival itself.

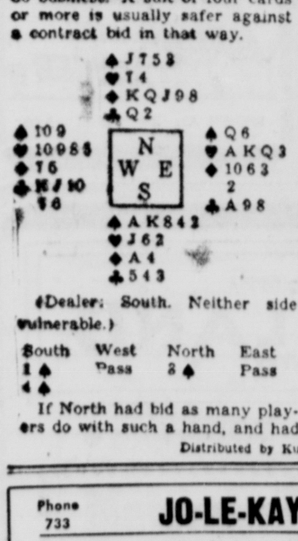
SHORT SUIT DANGEROUS

LEADING a short suit, of three cards or fewer, when the opponents have bid to a game without showing anything except their trumps, is highly dangerous. There is a great likelihood that one or the other partner holds a good side suit, on which discards of losers might be obtained. And, if you select a short suit for your opening lead, you may be starting the declarer on his run of the two suits in which he wants to do business. A suit of four cards or more is usually safer against a contract bid in that way.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass

If North had bid as many players do with such a hand, and had shown his diamonds on his first turn, his side would never have made a game on this deal, as West would have been scared away from a diamond lead. Nevertheless West showed lack of understanding one simple principle when he led his diamond 7. The A of course won that, trumps were cleared, and South then discarded all of his clubs on dummy's diamonds. He gave up two heart tricks then, and was in position to ruff his last heart for an extra trick.

With that kind of bidding, West should have feared just what occurred. His doubleton in diamonds made it more than likely that, if the opponents had a goodly side suit, it would be that one. He therefore should have been constrained to lead either a club or heart, the latter preferably because it would not jeopardize an honor and was the unbid major. If he had done so, his side would have scored two tricks each in hearts and clubs.

Your Week-end Question

Why should a player, on either offense or defense, who holds the queen or jack of a suit, together with one, two or three small cards, usually try to avoid leading the suit and instead strive to compel the first lead of it by the other side?

Maple Festival Plans Start

Somerset Residents Answer Questions On Annual Event

The leaves of Somerset County sugar maple trees are turning to bright shades of orange, red and yellow, and with their turning, plans are being formulated for the annual Somerset County Maple Festival, April 2-4, 1954.

While thousands of people from far and near are expected to tour the county sightseeing this fall, Meyersdale area citizens will be busy planning the most elaborate festival in its history.

Herman E. Basehore is general chairman for the celebration, and Henry J. Beamer is finance committee chairman and treasurer. Both have been active in community affairs for years.

In an effort to determine what people like and dislike about the Maple Festival, a questionnaire was prepared under the direction of Basehore, and mailed to educators, farmers-producers, professional people, businessmen and women, housewives, etc.

Here are some of the results:

Fifty-nine percent of the people queried said they preferred to have the festival held during the maple season, while 33 percent said they preferred the celebration after the maple season because of weather conditions.

Time for the annual parade indicated 53 percent like the evening better, while 40 percent chose the afternoon.

The historical pageant with chorus received 64 percent approval while the variety show type of entertainment was preferred by 22 percent.

Eighty-five percent favor tours to area sugar camps, and 90 percent hope that arrangements can be made to demonstrate the making of maple sugar products in the community during the Maple Festival.

As for a place to hold the Maple Queen Contest, 59 percent replied they preferred the Cambria County War Memorial at Johnstown, to 32 percent who said they thought the county high school auditorium would be satisfactory.

Practically 90 percent of those queried said the community should have special decorations for the three-day celebration. The length of the festivities was very controversial, with 40 percent saying it should be a three-day affair, 39 percent a two-day event, with 21 percent indicating different amounts of time.

Basehore declared the results of the survey will be very helpful in determining and planning a program for the 1954 festival. Preliminary plans were outlined to the Somerset County Principals Association at its meeting last Wednesday in Somerset. President-elect James M. Cassel of Berlin, appointed a committee headed by E. H. Stuempfle of Meyersdale, David Lichliter of Forbes, and R. M. Swartzwelder of Shade-Central City, to work with the Maple Festival committees in conducting and staging the Maple Queen Contest as well as the Maple Festival itself.

Garrett Court To Hear Appeals

Three criminal appeals involving overloaded motor vehicles are among the cases scheduled for trial Monday and Tuesday in Garrett County Circuit Court.

The overweight cases involve Blaine Durst, Grantsville; James Franklin Green of near Avilton and David C. Jones, a non-resident.

There are two traffic appeal cases, according to W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney. Wilmer Harrison Sweitzer appealed a case heard before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, Oakland, where he was found guilty of operating an automobile under the influence of intoxicants.

Robert Edward King also entered an appeal on a reckless driving charge. He was found guilty by Magistrate Bitzer.

Mason Gibbs, Friendsville, convicted on a non-support charge before Trial Magistrate Karol Rush, Friendsville, also appealed.

Father Of Five Killed In Crash

BEDFORD, Pa. — Collision of two trailer trucks yesterday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike six miles west of here killed a father of five children from Middletown, Md.

Meredith Schaffer, about 26, driving for the Maryland Transportation Co., Baltimore, burned to death in the smashed cab of his truck, State Police reported.

His truck rammed into the rear of a rig operated by John W. Broddebeck, 24, of Reisertown, Md., on a straight stretch of road, police said. Both vehicles were headed west.

Broddebeck, driving for Schreiber Trucking Co., Inc., Pittsburgh, escaped injury.

The crash and fire blocked both westbound lanes of the pike for two and a half hours.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25 (INS)—Those of us who met Nicole Maurey at the William Perlberg party when she came here for the premiere of "Little Boy Lost," Bing Crosby's picture, are not surprised that she is returning very soon.

After a most satisfactory test Nicole was signed by Paramount for two pictures, with an option for additional pictures. She didn't have a lot to do as the wife in "Little Boy Lost," but she is a beautiful girl, and photographs like a million.

Nicole's first is "Legend of the Incas" which she will make with Charlton Heston and Yma Sumac, the attractive singer.

Bert Friedlob's legal move for reconciliation not withstanding, Eleanor Parker must leave here in three weeks for Egypt for "The Valley of the Kings" with Bob Taylor.

The MGM movie starts so soon that Carlos Thompson, just cast as Eleanor's movie husband, won't bother to return to Hollywood and goes from France, where he's vacationing, to Egypt to await Eleanor and Bob.

Taylor is having even a shorter visit home with his girl friend Ursula Thiess than expected. Even by flying, he has to be on his way by Oct. 10.

You could have knocked Eleanor Powell over with a feather when she stepped off the boat in New Orleans from Rio with her legally wedded spouse, Glenn Ford, and reporters nabbed her to ask if she is going to marry Argentine Actor Mario Sergio!

"Mario's a friend of both Glenn and mine," Eleanor said indignantly. "Everyone in Rio was nice to us."

This is a switch which rather tickles Hollywood. Usually it's Glenn who's in the limelight about extra curricular romance rumors.

As silly as the gossip is, it may open Glenn's eyes to Eleanor's attractiveness. Husbands sometimes forget.

Peter Howard, son of Mrs. George Vanderbilt, used to telephone me regularly that he and Betsy Von Furstenberg were about to be married.

Now, from Paris, comes word that Peter is going to marry Zina Rachevsky, granddaughter of Mrs. S. W. Straus. In fact, I received a cable that they were married, but it now simmers down to the fact that instead of the marriage it was just an engagement party.

It seems Anita Vanderbilt is not particularly eager about this marriage, and methinks both Zina and young Howard love the publicity.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dorothy Warren, the governor's daughter, saying farewell to her heart, Joe Behari, in a last date at Ciro's. Uncle Sam's tagged Joe for the Army.

The only thing wrong with the gossip that Mrs. Jack Palance has gone to New York to divorce her husband is that she's right here in Hollywood, happy as can be, wearing a new diamond bracelet he slipped on her arm for their fifth anniversary.

Richard Arlen (just as handsome as when he made "Wings" with Ben Lyon) made a vacation trip to New York pay off. He's set for a TV series about an insurance investigator.

Handsome Basso Cesare Sieppe, who was tested by MGM, will probably make a movie in Italy before returning to the Metropolitan.

Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski is really coming out of her shell with a panel show on TV.

Card Club Winners Noted

MT. SAVAGE—The B. B. Card Club held its semi-annual dinner at Moon's dining room after which cards were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Virginia Carter, Mrs. Virginia Ferno, and Mrs. Pauline McDermitt. Others attending were Mrs. Mary Alice Windemuth, Mrs. Mary Agnes King, Mrs. Alberta Geary and Mrs. Dorothy Shaffer.

Three dates in a row for Geary Steffen and Shelia Connolly, the Liz Taylor look-alike, at Jack's at the Beach.

It's usually the kiss of death to be labeled the "perfect Hollywood couple," but the Robert Cummings are taking the honor and the risk tonight at the dinner in Santa Monica for the California Home for the Aged in Reseda.

No one enjoyed the premiere of "The Robe" more than my escort, Father Thomas English who is just back from a visit to Ireland.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

We Wash Their Brains

I never read "1984," the late George Orwell's scarifying glimpse into the totalitarian future, because I've got enough troubles of my own and this, my friends told me, was the most depressing book to come along in years.

John Crosby

I did see the television version which was the opening presentation of "Studio One." It could hardly have equalled the book but it was a pretty thought-provoking experience, all around.

"This is a story about the future," declared the narrator, Don Hollenbeck, "not the distant future but the immediate future" in which freedom of speech, of religion, of belief is totally non-existent.

The opening scene shows the robots of 1984 moving about in their predestined courses, thinking their carefully prescribed thoughts. Presently, the camera concentrates on one individual, if anyone in 1984 can be so described, named Winston Smith (Eddie Albert) who is in mild revolt against the system. The telescreen an extension of television that is perfectly possible, watches his every move at work and in his home. When his actions are not quite correct, a horrifying babe with a voice like a whip bellows instructions.

The drabness, the conformity, the joylessness of the completely totalitarian world are sketched in but the emphasis—in the "Studio One" version—is on the total lack of privacy. The telescreen is everywhere, watching. When Winston Smith finds a girl he loves—and love is strictly against the law in this society—the couple's great aim is to be alone, away from the telescreen for a moment. The most appalling moment of a generally appalling love affair is when the telescreen suddenly manifests itself in what the lovers fondly thought was a hideaway. It's interesting to note that a Prague newspaper recently published a piece about television in which it pointed out hopefully that television could provide a fine way to keep an eye on the workers. It's not as fantastic as it sounds.

The lovers are carted away to their separate hells and subjected to torture to bring them around to the correct methods of thinking. Each is made to betray the other and, in a pathetic last scene, the girl tells Mr. Smith that you don't feel the same way about a person after you have betrayed him. Apathetically, now a complete robot, he agrees. It's quite a scene.

Paul Nickell, one of the best directors around, did a fine job which only occasionally, in his groupings, lapsed into artiness. Eddie Albert, I thought, was a little too timorous to be the one man in 1984 to revolt but perhaps that was what Orwell had in mind. Norma Crane, a newcomer who played the girl, is an interesting and dynamic personality who may turn into a very good actress. (She isn't yet.)

I'm glad to see "Studio One" tackle something like "1984" as their opening presentation. "Studio One" has gone from very good to very bad and back again. But, through good and bad, it has been one of the few dramatic programs that has not hesitated to take on the most difficult and controversial subjects. Rarely, does it subside into the easy mire of mediocrity.

"We do not merely destroy our enemies," says the arch-enemy and inquisitor of Mr. Smith, "we change them; we wash their brains."

We've heard a lot about that from the other side of the Iron Curtain but there's a lot of it here, too. You have to be politically correct, if you want to get along. You have to be terribly politically correct if you want to act on television.

It was very nice of CBS to put on this protest against the totalitarian future but a good many of the practises which are decreed in this drama are practised at CBS right now. "Here's to the time when thought is free," says Eddie Albert in a toast at one point in the play. It's a great toast—until you stop to think that thought is not at all free at CBS.

Every single actor on that show had to be cleared by the upper floors to be sure they had never had a politically incorrect thought. If they'd ever had one, they'd never have been on that show. As I said, I'm glad CBS is publicly opposed to Thought Police, as in this show.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Gains By Aircrafts Enliven Rather Dull Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP) — Strength in the aircrafts enlivened a rather dull stock market today.

A mild sort of weakness in the railroads accompanied the stronger aircrafts. Otherwise the stock market held steady with a few exceptions.

Volume amounted to only 910,000 shares. That compares with 1,020,000 shares yesterday.

Lockheed topped the list up ¾ at 24 with 18,900 shares traded. It was followed by United Aircraft up ⅞ at 40⅝, Fairchild Engine & Aircraft up ¼ at 7⅝, North American Aviation up ⅜ at 17⅜ and Pennsylvania Railroad off ⅛ at 18¾.

Accident Victims Improving

Six local and area residents are reported improving in Cumberland's two hospitals after being admitted on Thursday following separate auto accidents.

At Memorial Hospital John Ritz, 18, was in fair condition. Ritz, driver of an auto in which he and his brother Dale were riding, sideswiped a tree and turned over several times near Bucks Valley, Pa., suffered a fractured left leg and internal injuries.

Dale Ritz, 25, is reported in good condition by attaches. He suffered internal injuries. X-rays of John Ritz will be taken as soon as his condition improves. Also at the hospital and reported in good condition are Con Ryan, Paw Paw W. Va., and Page Rannels, 28, of Hagerstown, injured in two separate mishaps.

Ryan suffered possible nose, chest and rib injuries and facial lacerations when his car went over an embankment and hit a tree about two miles southwest of Paw Paw. Rannells has a right leg injury. His auto plunged over an embankment one and a half miles from Okonoko, W. Va.

At Sacred Heart Hospital, Charles L. Zembower, 69, of 223 Frederick Street, who operates a barber shop on South Liberty Street, is reported in good condition. He was admitted for X-rays and observation following an auto mishap near the Cumberland Country Club. Attaches said he suffered lacerations of the forehead and nose.

Trooper Joseph Stakem, who investigated, said Zembower apparently lost control of his car which swerved onto the left side of the road and struck a utility pole.

Mrs. Julia Hager, 53, of 517 Patterson Avenue, also at Sacred Heart Hospital, was reported last night as good. She was admitted for observation and X-rays following a four-car collision in the Narrows. She complained of pains in the chest.

State Trooper Donald R. Wade, who investigated, said a car driven by Cecil Ready of Jamestown, Ky., was traveling east in the Narrows, followed by Mrs. Hager's car and an auto operated by Jess Lashley of Mt. Savage.

A car operated by Miss Rebekah Otto, of Narrows Park, was traveling west when it apparently swerved over the line into the path of the other three cars, striking the Ready vehicle. No charges have been preferred.

Dodecanese is Greek for "twelve islands," but actually there are 14 in the chain, with numerous islets and reefs. They are home to 116,000 persons.

Gains By Aircrafts Enliven Rather Dull Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP) — Strength in the aircrafts enlivened a rather dull stock market today.

A mild sort of weakness in the railroads accompanied the stronger aircrafts. Otherwise the stock market held steady with a few exceptions.

Aircrafts displayed gains of around a point at the best while the railroads posted losses of a similar extent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held unchanged at $102.50 for the second straight day.

Volume amounted to only 910,000 shares. That compares with 1,020,000 shares yesterday.

Lockheed topped the list up ¾ at 24 with 18,900 shares traded. It was followed by United Aircraft up ⅞ at 40⅝. Fairchild Engine & Aircraft up ¼ at 7⅝. North American Aviation up ⅛ at 17⅜ and Pennsylvania Railroad off ⅛ at 18¾.

Accident Victims Improving

Six local and area residents are reported improving in Cumberland's two hospitals after being admitted on Thursday following separate auto accidents.

At Memorial Hospital John Ritz, 18, was in fair condition. Ritz, driver of an auto in which he and his brother Dale were riding, sideswiped a tree and turned over several times near Bucks Valley, Pa., suffered a fractured left leg and internal injuries.

Dale Ritz, 25, is reported in good condition by attaches. He suffered internal injuries. X-rays of John Ritz will be taken as soon as his condition improves. Also at the hospital and reported in good condition are Con Ryan, Paw Paw W. Va., and Page Rannels, 28, of Hagerstown, injured in two separate mishaps.

Ryan suffered possible nose, chest and rib injuries and facial lacerations when his car went over an embankment and hit a tree about two miles southwest of Paw Paw. Rannells has a right leg injury. His auto plunged over an embankment one and a half miles from Okonoko, W. Va.

At Sacred Heart Hospital, Charles L. Zembower, 69, of 223 Frederick Street, who operates a barber shop on South Liberty Street, is reported in good condition. He was admitted for X-rays and observation following an auto mishap near the Cumberland

Public May Use Wildcat Hollow Road, Judge Says

Attempts To Settle Neighbors' Feud

In an effort to bring order to the chaos that has prevailed along Wildcat Hollow Road in recent months, Associate Judge George Henderson yesterday filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court declaring that the general public has the right to use the road.

He did not decide the question specifically as to whether the road is a public road but he made it clear that the public has a right to use it.

Files Complaint

Mrs. Geraldine Messersmith filed a bill of complaint against Michael H. Pryor and Margaret B. Pryor, his wife, alleging that the defendants were using "a privately owned unimproved dirt road" through her property without her permission and over her protests. She asked that they be enjoined from using it.

The Pryors in turn filed a cross-bill alleging that the road afforded the only access to their property, that it had been a "road used by the general public from time immemorial," and that Mrs. Messersmith had interferred with their using it. They requested that Mrs. Messersmith and her agents be enjoined from interfering with the use of the road by themselves "and all other persons similarly situated desiring to use the road."

Leads South

The Wildcat Hollow Road leads south from the Williams Road a distance of about a mile and a half and it ends on the property purchased in 1945 by the Pryors. This road affords the only access to the Pryor property, situated as it is at the bottom of a valley with steep hillsides on both sides, the judge notes. Adjoining the Pryor property on the north is the 28-acre tract owned by Mrs. Messersmith and which she purchased in 1950. Eleven other families live on the road between the Messersmith place and the Williams Road.

"The road in question across the Messersmith property has been used in its present location by the owners of the Pryor home place and by the general public ever since June 1932," Judge Henderson writes in his opinion.

"In 1932, with the acquiescence of the then owners of the Messersmith tract, the road was relocated and the prior road was abandoned. Mrs. Messersmith's house was built about 1936 over, or very close to, the abandoned road. She bought with notice of the existence of the road, and therefore her property is subject to the rights of the Pryors and of the general public to use the road. No gates have been across the road within 20 years of the time she brought her suit.

"Therefore, her bill of complaint must be dismissed and the injunction asked for by the Pryors in their cross-bill of complaint will be granted," he concluded.

Some 20 witnesses testified when evidence in the legal wrangle was heard September 10. Attorneys Harold E. Naughton and Matthew J. Mullaney represented Mrs. Messersmith and Attorneys Earl E. Manges and George R. Hughes Jr., the Pryors.

Widow, Infant To Get $45,000 In Compromise

Railroader's Kin Settles Dispute

The 20-year old widow and infant daughter of a young railroad brakeman who was killed last April while working in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday were awarded a total of $45,000 in a compromise settlement of a $100,000 suit filed the same day against the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company.

Mrs. Helen Bagatti, Jane Frazier Village, as administrator of the estate of Joseph A. Bagatti, filed the suit, through Attorneys A. H. Dudnik of Cleveland and Thomas B. Finan, this city, in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The young widow cited in her declaration that her husband was killed while working as a yard brakeman in Cleveland, where he had gone to work a short time earlier. He was on duty with a yard switching crew uncoupling freight cars when he met his death.

While working between moving boxcars and a platform, Bagatti was struck from the rear by the bent handle of a boxcar door. He was found in a dying condition between the platform and boxcar where there was only a four-inch clearance, she adds.

Filed with the declaration was the compromise settlement which bore the signature of Mrs. Bagatti, her attorneys and William A. Gunter, attorney for the defendant, which is known commonly as the Nickle Plate Railroad. Of the $45,000, Mrs. Bagatti is to receive $35,000 and her six-month old daughter, Christina Rose Bagatti, $10,000.

Associate Judge George Henderson signed an order directing the clerk to enter the compromise judgment.

State Commerce Group Sets Meeting Agenda

Session To Be Held Here Today

The board of directors of the Maryland Council of Chambers of Commerce met last night at the home of Anthony Saeli, 835 Windsor Road, manager of the local Chamber.

The informal session was a prelude to a quarterly meeting of the Council which will be held today at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

James W. Stone, president of the Maryland Council, outlined the agenda for the meeting which will be in session all day today.

Stone pointed out that the state organization will discuss plans to promote the tourist trade in Maryland, and phases of the plan which supplement ideas of the individual Chambers in the state.

The discussion which was begun last night by the board of directors will also take into account activities of the Council for encouraging industrial development in the state. The board also took up problems of individual chambers of commerce.

The directors also discussed a plan to establish closer liaison between the Maryland Council and the state legislature. Stone pointed out that the council plans to study bills introduced in the legislature which have statewide implications.

It will be particularly interested in bills of importance to the entire state, Stone said, and the council will, in addition, assist geographical areas in their legislative problems.

The council will analyze bills, contact legislators and submit the council's opinions concerning the bills. Stone explained that the plans discussed will take time to establish and that the meeting was to set up a plan of action.

A long-range phase of the council's program will also be discussed, Stone said. It is a problem, which as the population grows, must be met, Stone declared.

That problem, he said, is to create jobs, markets and production for a future population. This includes developing industries that are not now concerned with this state, eventually enlarging other industries, and attempting to stabilize industries in order to create employment, production and markets.

At a workshop session this morning, Stone said, members hope to consolidate ideas of the Chambers and clarify and explain the purely mechanical phases of the local and state Chamber of Commerce. This will include a program on membership, developing new members, problems of bulletins and publications and an exploration of other fields in Chamber of Commerce work.

The quarterly meeting will open at 9 a.m. today when a workshop session on "Membership Building and Maintenance" will be featured. The moderator will be Dwight Havens, manager of the Chamber of Commerce Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Participating in the panel discussion will be Saeli, Joseph W. Clautice, secretary of the Baltimore Association of Commerce, and Charles H. Kopeland, secretary of the Silver Spring Board of Trade.

Following the workshop, a luncheon will be served at the club. Greetings will be presented the state Council by Mayor Roy W. Eves, representing Cumberland, and R. Finley Thompson, first vice president of the host organization.

City's Kids Know What Community Chest Means

If there is anyone in Cumberland who does not believe in the principles . . . and the practices of the Cumberland Community Chest and its Red Feather agencies, he should have been in the City Hall auditorium last night.

Fourteen youngsters, selected as representative of as many local Boy and Girl Scout troops, participated in a quiz, personality and poise contest so a panel of judges could name Cumberland's Red Feather Kids of 1953, a boy and a girl.

As Winifield H. Adam, acting as master of ceremonies, put the youngsters at ease with his manner of talking with . . . not to . . . youngsters, and as each went through the task of explaining the Community Chest, what it is, what it does and what it means to a community, everyone present — even long-experienced campaigners and Chest workers—was agreeably surprised.

For here, among 14 youngsters, was the answer. Rather, were all answers.

The Kids' Viewpoint

As Adam asked each in turn to explain the Chest, what it is and what it does, the judges and audience got such responses as these:

"The Chest is a group of agencies which work together to make it easier to help those who need help."

"I am a Girl Scout because people contribute money to the Chest. The Chest gives some of its money to the Girl Scouts so we can have a properly supervised and organized program. In Scouting we learn how to do many good things. Scouting is fun."

Another youngster said, "The Community Chest campaign is to raise money to help crippled kids. It helps well kids too, because if someone didn't give the Chest money, kids wouldn't have any Scout troops or lots of things."

Another little miss said, "Gee, we have lots of fun in my Scout troop. I'm glad and thankful for all the people who give to the Red Feather drive."

Helping Others

One boy,who impressed everyone who heard him, said, "I want to help the Chest any way I can, because when we help the Community Chest, we help those who need it and at the same time help our town to be a good place to live."

As Adam talked with the youngsters, it became evident that these pre-teenagers were conscious of the work of the Community Chest, much more conscious than most people realize. Then Adam suddenly looked at the judges and said:

"It appears that these youngsters know about the Chest pretty well, but after all, why shouldn't they? They are the Chest. These kids are what we are doing all this for. This," he exclaimed, "is what it's all about."

The judges, headed by Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, had a difficult time selecting two youngsters, a girl and a boy, to represent all the Red Feather kids in all the agencies.

But they finally did so.

Arthur Williamson, Route 1, Allegany Grove, is the Red Feather Boy.

Margaret Sirna, Route 1, Ridgeley, is the Red Feather Girl.

Williamson is a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 10 and little Miss Sirna is a member of Troop No. 1, in Ridgeley, which is a part of the Cumberland Council.

Others who volunteered in the contest to select a pair of typical Cumberland Red Feather Kids included:

Gary Yutzy, 710 Shawnee Avenue; Sandy Harrison, 32 Cumberland Street; Vivian Hanewalt, 874 Maryland Avenue; Carla Long, Cresaptown; Sharan Alice Shank, RFD 1; Sandra Wade, 11 Arch Street; Elizabeth White, 400 Tilghman Street; Mary Ethel Knieriem, 712 Sylvan Avenue; Mary Haines, 700 Montgomery Avenue; David Davis, Bowling Green; Douglas Marker, Cresaptown; Pete Smith, 913 Louisiana Avenue and Leland Ransom, 1002 Holland Street.

The judging was on a point basis and judges said it was extremely close. Any of the youngsters present could have won. Each boy and girl participating was presented with a Red Feather Oscar and all are members of Cumberland's first Red Feather Kids club.

The two selected as most representative will present Red Feather Oscars to citizens who do an outstanding job for the Chest during next month's fund campaign.

$5,000 Damage Suit Against Mail Carrier Is Dismissed

The case against a local mail carrier, named in a $5,000 damage suit in connection with the death of a dog, was dismissed this week in U. S. District Court, Baltimore.

The suit against John J. Clark, mail carrier, was dismissed Thursday morning after the plaintiff, David T. Tharp, 120 Federal Street, his attorney or representatives failed to appear at a hearing in the federal court, according to local postal officials.

The suit for $5,000, docketed in Allegany County Circuit Court February 19 by Thomas Lohr Richards, attorney for Tharp, stated that Clark was delivering mail at the Tharp residence September 11, 1952 when a chihuahua dog owned by Tharp was on the lawn.

Tharp alleged in the declaration that the mail man "went out of his way" to get at the dog, which was seated on the lawn, at least seven feet distant from the walk into the residence. Tharp said the chihuahua dog was affectionate and harmless.

The plaintiff said in the suit the mail man "viciously and wantonly" stamped the dog to death and declared: "He would kill all cats and dogs he found."

Tharp said he raises chihuahua dogs and the pedigreed animal allegedly killed by Clark was about to give birth to a litter of puppies.

Post officials said Tharp, through his attorney, had tried to have the hearing held in Cumberland, but ws unsuccessful.

Clark has been employed at the local post office for six years.

At Thursday's hearing, Clark and his counsel were present, but the case was dismissed when the plaintiff did not appear in court.

Public May Use Wildcat Hollow Road, Judge Says

Attempts To Settle Neighbors' Feud

In an effort to bring order to the chaos that has prevailed along Wildcat Hollow Road in recent months, Associate Judge George Henderson yesterday filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court declaring that the general public has the right to use the road.

He did not decide the question specifically as to whether the road is a public road but he made it clear that the public has a right to use it.

Files Complaint

Mrs. Geraldine Messersmith filed a bill of complaint against Michae H. Pryor and Margaret B. Pryor, his wife, alleging that the defendants were using "a privately owned unimproved dirt road" through her property without her permission and over her protests. She asked that they be enjoined from using it.

The Pryors in turn filed a cross-bill alleging that the road afforded the only access to their property, that it had been a "road used by the general public from time immemorial," and that Mrs. Messersmith had interferred with their using it. They requested that Mrs. Messersmith and her agents be enjoined from interfering with the use of the road by themselves "and all other persons similarly situated desiring to use the road."

Leads South

The Wildcat Hollow Road leads south from the Williams Road a distance of about a mile and a half and it ends on the property purchased in 1945 by the Pryors. This road affords the only access to the Pryor property, situated as it is at the bottom of a valley with steep hillsides on both sides, the judge notes. Adjoining the Pryor property on the north is the 28-acre tract owned by Mrs. Messersmith and which she purchased in 1950. Eleven other families live on the road between the Messersmith place and the Williams Road.

"The road in question across the Messersmith property has been used in its present location by the owners of the Pryor home place and by the general public ever since June 1932," Judge Henderson writes in his opinion.

"In 1932, with the acquiescence of the then owners of the Messersmith tract, the road was relocated and the prior road was abandoned. Mrs. Messersmith's house was built about 1936 over, or very close to, the abandoned road. She bought with notice of the existence of the road, and therefore her property is subject to the rights of the Pryors and of the general public to use the road. No gates have been across the road within 20 years of the time she brought her suit.

"Therefore, her bill of complaint must be dismissed and the injunction asked for by the Pryors in their cross-bill of complaint will be granted," he concluded.

Some 20 witnesses testified when evidence in the legal wrangle was heard September 10. Attorneys Harold E. Naughton and Matthew J. Mullaney represented Mrs. Messersmith and Attorneys Earl E. Manges and George R. Hughes Jr., the Pryors.

Session To Be Held Here Today

The board of directors of the Maryland Council of Chambers of Commerce met last night at the home of Anthony Saeli, 835 Windsor Road, manager of the local Chamber.

It will be particularly interested in bills of importance to the entire state, Stone said, and the council will, in addition, assist geographical areas in their legislative problems.

The council will analyze bills, contact legislators and submit the council's opinions concerning the bills. Stone explained that the plans discussed will take time to establish and that the meeting was to set up a plan of action.

Widow, Infant To Get $45,000 In Compromise

Railroader's Kin Settles Dispute

The 20-year old widow and infant daughter of a young railroad brakeman who was killed last April while working in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday were awarded a total of $45,000 in a compromise settlement of a $100,000 suit filed the same day against the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company.

Mrs. Helen Bagatti, Jane Frazier Village, as administrator of the estate of Joseph A. Bagatti, filed the suit, through Attorneys A. H. Dudnik of Cleveland and Thomas B. Finan, this city, in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The young widow cited in her declaration that her husband was killed while working as a yard brakeman in Cleveland, where he had gone to work a short time earlier. He was on duty with a yard switching crew uncoupling freight cars when he met his death.

While working between moving boxcars and a platform, Bagatti was struck from the rear by the bent handle of a boxcar door. He was found in a dying condition between the platform and boxcar where there was only a four-inch clearance, she adds.

Filed with the declaration was the compromise settlement which bore the signature of Mrs. Bagatti, her attorneys and William A. Gunter, attorney for the defendant, which is known commonly as the Nickle Plate Railroad. Of the $45,000, Mrs. Bagatti is to receive $35,000 and her six-month old daughter, Christina Rose Bagatti, $10,000.

Associate Judge George Henderson signed an order directing the clerk to enter the compromise judgment.

City's Kids Know What Community Chest Means

If there is anyone in Cumberland who does not believe in the principles . . . and the practices of the Cumberland Community Chest and its Red Feather agencies, he should have been in the City Hall auditorium last night.

Fourteen youngsters, selected as representative of as many local Boy and Girl Scout troops, participated in a quiz, personality and poise contest so a panel of judges could name Cumberland's Red Feather Kids of 1953, a boy and a girl.

As Winifield H. Adam, acting as master of ceremonies, put the youngsters at ease with his manner of talking with . . . not to . . . youngsters, and as each went through the task of explaining the Community Chest, what it is, what it does and what it means to a community, everyone present — even long-experienced campaigners and Chest workers—was agreeably surprised.

For here, among 14 youngsters, was the answer. Rather, were all answers.

The Kids' Viewpoint

As Adam asked each in turn to explain the Chest, what it is and what it does, the judges and audience got such responses as these:

"The Chest is a group of agencies which work together to make it easier to help those who need help."

"I am a Girl Scout because people contribute money to the Chest. The Chest gives some of its money to the Girl Scouts so we can have a properly supervised and organized program. In Scouting we learn how to do many good things. Scouting is fun."

Another youngster said, "The Community Chest campaign is to raise money to help crippled kids. It helps well kids too, because if someone didn't give the Chest money, kids wouldn't have any Scout troops or lots of things."

Another little miss said, "Gee, we have lots of fun in my Scout troop. I'm glad and thankful for all the people who give to the Red Feather drive."

Helping Others

One boy,who impressed everyone who heard him, said, "I want to help the Chest any way I can, because when we help the Community Chest, we help those who need it and at the same time help our town to be a good place to live."

As Adam talked with the youngsters, it became evident that these pre-teenagers were conscious of the work of the Community Chest, much more conscious than most people realize. Then Adam suddenly looked at the judges and said:

"It appears that these youngsters know about the Chest pretty well, but after all, why shouldn't they? They are the Chest. These kids are what we are doing all this for. This," he exclaimed, "is what it's all about."

The judges, headed by Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, had a difficult time selecting two youngsters, a girl and a boy, to represent all the Red Feather kids in all the agencies.

But they finally did so.

Arthur Williamson, Route 1, Allegany Grove, is the Red Feather Boy.

Margaret Sirna, Route 1, Ridgeley, is the Red Feather Girl.

Williamson is a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 10 and little Miss Sirna is a member of Troop No. 1, in Ridgeley, which is a part of the Cumberland Council.

Others who volunteered in the contest to select a pair of typical Cumberland Red Feather Kids included:

Gary Yutzy, 710 Shawnee Avenue; Sandy Harrison, 32 Cumberland Street; Vivian Hanewalt, 874 Maryland Avenue; Carla Long, Cresaptown; Sharan Alice Shank, RFD 1; Sandra Wade, 11 Arch Street; Elizabeth White, 400 Tilghman Street; Mary Ethel Knieriem, 712 Sylvan Avenue; Mary Haines, 700 Montgomery Avenue; David Davis, Bowling Green; Douglas Marker, Cresaptown; Pete Smith, 913 Louisiana Avenue and Leland Ransom, 1002 Holland Street.

The judging was on a point basis and judges said it was extremely close. Any of the youngsters present could have won. Each boy and girl participating was presented with a Red Feather Oscar and all are members of Cumberland's first Red Feather Kids club.

The two selected as most representative will present Red Feather Oscars to citizens who do an outstanding job for the Chest during next month's fund campaign.

$5,000 Damage Suit Against Mail Carrier Is Dismissed

The case against a local mail carrier, named in a $5,000 damage suit in connection with the death of a dog, was dismissed this week in U. S. District Court, Baltimore.

The suit against John J. Clark, mail carrier, was dismissed Thursday morning after the plaintiff, David T. Tharp, 120 Federal Street, his attorney or representatives failed to appear at a hearing in the federal court, according to local postal officials.

The suit for $5,000, docketed in Allegany County Circuit Court February 19 by Thomas Lohr Richards, attorney for Tharp, stated that Clark was delivering mail at the Tharp residence September 11, 1952 when a chihuahua dog owned by Tharp was on the lawn.

Tharp alleged in the declaration that the mail man "went out of his way" to get at the dog, which was seated on the lawn, at least seven feet distant from the walk into the residence. Tharp said the chihuahua dog was affectionate and harmless.

The plaintiff said in the suit the mail man "viciously and wantonly" stamped the dog to death and declared: "He would kill all cats and dogs he found."

Tharp said he raises chihuahua dogs and the pedigreed animal allegedly killed by Clark was about to give birth to a litter of puppies.

Post officials said Tharp, through his attorney, had tried to have the hearing held in Cumberland, but ws unsuccessful.

Clark has been employed at the local post office for six years.

At Thursday's hearing, Clark and his counsel were present, but the case was dismissed when the plaintiff did not appear in court.
